U.S. Airlifts Scientists Off Arctic Ice Floe

Air Force Estimates Operation Will Take Five To Seven Days

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The Air Force went calmly about the task today of airlifting a group of scientists and servicemen from a research camp on a shrinking ice floe in the Arctic Ocean.

"No sweat," said one officer—the Air Force's way of saying the situation is under control.

"There's always a potential that when you are on an ice floe like that it could break up," said Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer at Ladd Air Force Base here.

"An operations plan was devised some time ago. We are putting into effect one phase of it."

Evacuation of military and civilian personnel at the camp, known as "Station Charley," was ordered Thursday after the big chunk of ice began disintegrating.

The Air Force said it believed there were about 25 men at the camp. Radio transmissions were so garbled that it wasn't known here exactly how many. Some of the civilians were believed to have returned recently to the University of Washington in Seattle.

Two men were flown here from the camp Thursday night by a twin-engine C123J cargo plane from Ladd. The Air Force said the rest would be brought out in a series of flights over the next five to seven days.

It will take several days to pack up the camp's equipment, Peacock explained.

The identity of the two men brought out was not known.

The camp, established last May, is 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, and some 600 from the North Pole. The scientists were studying the depths of the ocean and the earth's magnetic currents.

Weatherman Throws Off 'Spring' Trance

Tired of dilly-dallying with spring-like weather in the dead of winter, the Ohio weatherman got back in the groove today with a forecast of much colder with snow flurries tonight and Saturday.

A low pressure area moving eastward through the Great Lakes will cause strong winds today, diminishing tonight when the temperature may drop to a sub-freezing low of 20 to 25 degrees.

The mercury will have to show a sharp drop late this afternoon as Dam 8 reported a high at noon of 39 degrees after an overnight low of 37. Thursday's high was 44.

Union Pushes Move To Fight Tariff Cutting

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters today urged all its local unions in the generalware and chinaware branches of the dinnerware industry to send representatives to a meeting of the Nationwide Committee on Import - Export Policy Thursday at Washington that will ask the federal government to refrain from further tariff reductions in 1960-61.

The national committee is supported by both labor and management in U. S. industries that have been affected by a growing influx of cheap foreign imports. In the dinnerware industry, the IBOP and the U. S. Potters Association support the committee.

"We cannot stress too strongly the importance of bench level craftsmen attending this meeting to guard against further lowering of tariff barriers, jeopardizing the jobs of thousands of skilled pottery workers," the IBOP said in the Potters Herald, official union newspaper.

In the past, proponents of lower tariffs have used as one of their arguments before Congress the fact that the move for better protection has not been supported by rank-and-file workers, the union said.

Locals in the tile, porcelain, refractories, artware and sanitary branches of the ceramic industry also may send representatives, as further lowering of tariff barriers might affect their jobs, the IBOP said.

The national committee's Board of Directors already has called upon the U. S. to refrain from further tariff cutting. The general meeting will implement the action of the directors. It also will serve as a general meeting of all the industrial, labor and agricultural groups affected by foreign imports, the IBOP said.

Boy In Firebug Case Made Ward Of Court

BEAVER FALLS — A 10-year-old Beaver Falls boy, who confessed to starting the $300,000 A. & P. super-market fire Dec. 20, is not a delinquent but a neglected and dependent child, Beaver County Judge Robert E. McCreary ruled Thursday at a juvenile hearing.

The child was made a ward of the court under the supervision of the Beaver County Child Welfare Department with placement in a home recommended.

Dr. Herbert I. Levitt of the Duxmont state hospital said that the child is not a pyromaniac but has "too much free time on his hands."

Smear Assault Against Jews Is Continued

Attempts To Track Down Hate-Mongers Have Little Success

By The Associated Press

Hit and run hate-mongers operating under the cover of darkness continued their smear campaign against Jews unabated Thursday night. Attempts to track them down were meeting with little success.

More swastikas and abusive slogans appeared in widely scattered countries—most of them crudely splashed on synagogues, homes and public buildings.

Sixteen days after the outburst began with the desecration of a synagogue in Cologne, government officials, Jewish leaders and social workers still disagreed in trying to place the blame for the continuing situation.

West Germany's Minister of Interior Gerhard Schroeder told British radio listeners Thursday night that anti-Semitism "represents no political power in Germany today."

"In our opinion, the anti-Semitic outrages primarily involve questions of moral attitudes and humanity," he said.

Many Jewish leaders and groups from other churches blamed left-overs from Hitler's fascism. There have also been suggestions that the Communists inspired the outrages to discredit Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

Authorization Asked For Hancock Tax Step

CHARLESTON — State Tax Commissioner Donald C. Carman has asked three appraisal companies to submit proposals by Jan. 18 for mapping Hancock County under the statewide property appraisal program.

The Hancock County court asked earlier this week that it be brought into the program. Carman said Hancock will become the 22nd County in which mapping has begun under provisions of the reappraisal program set up by a 1958 legislative pact.

Plans call for the completion of aerial survey work, an integral part of the mapping, before foliage appears on trees and shrubs in the spring. Carman said early estimates indicate that Hancock contains about 19,500 parcels of property.

The county is the last in the Northern Panhandle to be brought into the appraisal program. Work is under way or has largely been completed in Marshall, Ohio and Brooke counties.

Ike Forecast On Surplus Challenged

Democrats, Some GOP Skeptical On Budget Estimates

WASHINGTON (AP)—A skeptical Democratic Congress called on the Eisenhower administration today to demonstrate it can produce a budget surplus without weakening America's defenses.

President Eisenhower's estimate in his State of the Union address Thursday that his new budget will have a $4,200,000,000 surplus was challenged by leading Democrats and even some Republicans.

Influential Democrats made it clear they remain unconvinced that the "enormous defense power" Eisenhower said the nation has is sufficient to offset growing Soviet military might.

Democrats generally joined Republicans in applauding Eisenhower's forecast of prosperity at home and peace in the world—if the Soviets cooperate. But most Democrats thought this is no time to stand on a 41-billion-dollar defense budget when military costs are rising.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, sounded a note echoed by many of his party colleagues.

"I am alarmed at the President's proposals to reduce the budget at a time when we are moving into a deteriorating military situation," he said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), another avowed candidate for the party nomination, said that Eisenhower's reports on space research, rockets and missiles "do not reflect that we are closing the perilous missile gap or rebuilding our ability to deal with non-nuclear military threats and attacks."

Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, majority leader of the House, pinpointed the general Democratic complaint when he said "a defense budget for the next fiscal year about the same as the present budget does not mean as much defense because costs have gone up."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) said he fears Eisenhower can't achieve "all the economy in government he predicted."

10 U.S. Fliers Missing

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Army today officially declared missing the 10 men aboard an off-aircraft which vanished on a North African flight Monday. Wreckage washed up on the Libyan shore indicated the plane, flying from Wheelus Air Base, Libya, to Bengasi, crashed in the Mediterranean about 75 miles south of Bengasi.

Kennedy, Nixon, Rockefeller

Names Of Three Injected Into New Hampshire Test

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — The names of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (R-NY) were injected into New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary today.

Enthusiastic supporters of Kennedy entered him in the popular poll section of the March 8 balloting, which will provide the first clue to voter sentiment in this presidential election year. Kennedy also filed a slate of delegate candidates pledged to vote for him at the Democratic National Convention.

At the same time, several Nixon backers filed as candidates for seats at the Republican nominat-

Favorite U.S. Testing Ground

Reds Invade Pacific Area To Test Powerful Rocket

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets are invading America's favorite testing ground in the Central Pacific to try out a powerful new rocket built for launching heavy earth satellites and space flights to the planets.

The Soviets Thursday night staked out a broad, deserted area 1,100 miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands for test firings to begin between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15.

Foreign ships and aircraft were warned to steer clear of the target zone—roughly a rectangle 280 miles long and 160 miles wide—during the tests. There was no indication how long they would continue.

(Soviet missiles have been sighted coming into the North Pacific in recent months. Shifting the target south into the region of American interest was viewed in some Washington circles as a deliberate move to impress the West with the reliability and accuracy of the Soviet Union's new missile weapons.

Grand Jurors Indict 18 In Varied Cases

Arraignment Slated Jan. 18 As Prelude To Criminal Trials

Eighteen persons were indicted by the Columbiana County Grand Jury, which reported Thursday afternoon at Lisbon.

The defendants will be arraigned Monday, Jan. 18, before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, who will handle criminal trials for the January term of Common Pleas Court.

The session began Tuesday with Prosecutor G. William Brokaw presenting a total of 27 cases requiring testimony of 42 witnesses.

Two second degree manslaughter cases, arising from traffic deaths, were ignored.

The panel of 15 jurors returned 18 true bills and ignored nine cases in its report to Judge Buzzard.

Judge Buzzard released the panel of nine men and six women but instructed them they would remain as the Grand Jury for this term of court which ends April 4.

True bills returned were: David Ellsworth Randolph, 1100 Dresden Ave., East Liverpool, theft of a car owned by Frank T. Yanco of Alliance R. D. 5.

John Dalton, 59, of Wheeling, obtaining narcotics illegally by using false name in East Liverpool.

David Anthony Yanni, 19, and Joseph Steward Dick, 20, both of move to impress the West with the reliability and accuracy of the Soviet Union's new missile weapons.

The Moscow announcement came less than six hours after President Eisenhower told Congress American intercontinental ballistic missiles have been hitting within a two-mile area from a launching point 5,000 away.)

The Soviets did not specify the firing site for their new rocket. The announcement by the official Soviet news agency Tass said only that the tests will be to develop "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake space flights to planets of the solar system."

The Soviets indicated they were confident of pin-pointing the rocket landings by announcing that Soviet ships will be sent into the target area to carry out measurements.

The range for the Soviet test firings could approximate that for the U.S. Atlas missile.

One possible Soviet launching site is the Kamchatka Peninsula protruding between the Bering Sea and the Sea of the Okhotsk in the northern Pacific. This would be about 3,800 miles from the impact area designated by Moscow for the new tests.

U. S. government legal authorities said there are many precedents for use of the high seas for such experiments as long as they do not interfere unreasonably with activities of other nations and advance notice is given of the danger zones.

The nearest lands to the testing space are two American-owned islands—Palmyra about 250 miles to the east and Johnston Island 400 miles to the north.

The Marshall Islands group, the big U. S. nuclear weapon testing grounds, is about 1,000 miles to the west.

Man In County Case Agrees To Extradition

Sheriff To Return Prisoner Linked To Salem Motel Holdup

A 30-year-old Newton Falls man, captured in a gun fight with Illinois police, has waived extradition on a fugitive warrant issued by Columbiana County authorities and is slated for return to Lisbon to face charges of an armed holdup of a Salem area motel.

Edmund Maras was ordered held under $10,000 bond in a hearing at Freeport, Ill., where he was taken after he and a companion were captured and a third man was killed in a fight with police at Dixon, Ill., Tuesday.

Charles Harris, 33, of Warren, also reportedly involved with Maras in the robbery of Barnett's Motel Dec. 11, was shot by an officer at Dixon during the struggle.

Maras and his brother, James Maras, 20, of Warren — now being held at the County Jail at Lisbon — were both indicted for the Barnett holdup by the January Grand Jury Thursday.

Dick Godfrey, 24, of Cleveland, captured with Edmund Maras Tuesday, pleaded guilty to robbery with aggravation Thursday at Davenport, Iowa, and was sentenced to 25 years in the Iowa State Penitentiary.

Police said Harris, Godfrey and Edmund Maras took $1,700 in a holdup of a Davenport supermarket Monday.

The trio's car was halted by police at Dixon after they drove through a traffic signal, and the gun fight followed.

Midland Group Awaited After Steel Negotiations

A delegation of officers of three locals of the United Steelworkers Union of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. was expected to return sometime today after attending contract negotiations in Washington which began Wednesday.

It is expected that a membership meeting will be called soon after the delegation returns. Attending negotiations were officers of Local 1212, Local 5047 of Crucible's Titanium Division, 3177 of Crucible's office workers and James Mullen of East Liverpool, union staff representative.

No word of a new contract agreement has been reported between Crucible and the unions of its several plants.

$79 Billion In Spending Is Estimated

Congress Urged To Use Surplus To Cut Debt And Not Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $4,200,000,000 budget surplus which President Eisenhower foresees for the next fiscal year portends important long-range changes in the "tight money" situation worrying Wall Street and Main Street.

Officials of financial agencies said today a surplus of that size probably would have one of two effects: Bringing about a drop in interest rates—now at the highest level in a generation—or make it possible for more Americans to obtain the loans they want.

Thus the budget secret which Eisenhower Thursday slipped into his State of the Union Message to Congress holds important implications for all borrowers and lenders, and for the economy as a whole.

But that would be in the future. Meantime his call for a continuing battle against inflation indicates no immediate easing of the credit situation.

Eisenhower estimated record peacetime spending of $79,800,000,000 in the 1961 fiscal year which begins July 1. However, he said revenues will exceed that figure by $4,200,000,000 to produce the biggest budget surplus in 13 years.

What's more, the President said the current fiscal year will show a 200-million-dollar surplus despite revenue losses caused by the steel strike.

In looking to two balanced budgets in a row, Eisenhower told Congress to use the surpluses to reduce the national debt—not to cut taxes.

Once debt reduction becomes a normal practice, he continued, "We can profitably make im-

Schuck Ruled Legally Sane

But Court Requests More Specific Data

BEAVER — A Sanity Commission was instructed to be more specific in its answers after finding that Arthur G. Schuck, convicted slayer of two Beaver County men, is legally sane.

The commission made its report Thursday to Judge Morgan H. Sohn.

Schuck was convicted and sentenced to death in the ambush slayings of two Beaver County men in April 1958.

Schuck's death sentence was set aside pending outcome of an appeal to the State Supreme Court. That case is expected to be argued in March.

Judge Sohn said he wants the commission to say specifically if it believes Schuck is able to comprehend his own condition and the nature and object of the proceedings against him.

The judge said the commission also should decide if Schuck is able to confer with counsel and if he understands the nature of the punishment that may be inflicted on him.

The commission added: "It is our opinion that the prisoner is without psychosis (not insane). We believe he is capable of knowing the nature of his acts in consequence of his behavior. We believe he can discern between right and wrong. We believe that care in a mental hospital is neither necessary nor advisable."

Schuck was sentenced Sept. 2, 1958, to die in the electric chair for the "mistake" killing of Vincent J. Quigley of Economy. A second man, William Engle, was killed at the same time.

Deaths and Funerals

Former Area Teacher Dies

Mrs. Lola Morlan, 92, a retired Columbiana County school teacher, died Wednesday night at 7:30 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Hildebrand, of Palmetto, Fla., after a brief illness. She was 92.

She was born in Columbiana County Jan. 6, 1867, and lived in Rogers and vicinity and Salem until she moved to Florida in 1950. She was a member of the Rogers Methodist Church and the WCTU.

Other survivors include two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Her husband, Jonah E. Morlan, died Jan. 6, 1934. Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Warrick Funeral Home at Columbiana by the Rev. Mark George. Burial will be in East Carmel Cemetery near Rogers.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday night.

Mrs. Jessie Slates

Mrs. Nellie Lotz Slates of Carrollton R. D. 5, mother of Lorin Slates of East Liverpool, died Wednesday at her home after a long illness. She was 69.

A life resident of Carroll County, she was a member of the Carrollton Presbyterian Church.

Other survivors include her husband, Jessie L. Slates at home; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Pyles of Wintersville and Mrs. William Heiss of Allison Park, Pa., and six grandchildren. An infant son and a brother preceded her in death.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Sweeney Funeral Home at Carrollton by the Rev. Donald Walton of Wintersville. Burial will be in the Grandview Cemetery at Carrollton.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

Mrs. Anna Satow

Mrs. Anna Maley Satow of Cleveland, formerly of Wellsville, died Thursday morning at her home after an illness of six months. She was 79.

She was born in May 1881 in Salineville and resided in Wellsville a number of years before moving to Cleveland in 1929.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Graf at home; a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Buckman of Cleveland; a brother, William Maley of Salineville, and five grandchildren. Her husband, H. S. Satow, is deceased.

Services will be held Saturday morning at 9:30 at the St. William's Catholic Church at Cleveland. Burial will be in St. Elizabeth Cemetery in Wellsville about 1 p. m. Saturday.

Herman Minor

Services for Herman Minor of Detroit, formerly of Georgetown R. D. 1, were held this afternoon at the Schmidt Funeral Home there. Burial was in Detroit.

He died Wednesday at his home after an illness of two weeks. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Minor.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Goldie Minor, and two daughters, Miss Mary Minor and Miss Connie Minor, all at home; two other daughters, Mrs. Betty Umlauf and Mrs. Virginia Caldwell, and a son Harold Minor, all of Detroit; a sister, Mrs. Olive Beal of Hookstown and a brother, Jay Minor of Chester.

Thomas G. Sayers

Thomas G. Sayers, 906 May St., a potter, died Thursday morning at 10:35 at the Cleveland Clinic Hospital after a long illness. He was 58.

He was born here, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sayers. A World War II veteran, he was employed at the Homer Laughlin China Co. He was a member of the IBOP. At one time he played amateur baseball with the local teams.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Sayers at home; a brother, Raymond Sayers, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Frazier and Mrs. Ernest Eardley, all of East Liverpool.

Services will be held Monday morning at 10:30 at the Dawson Funeral Home by the Rev. Mark Anton Nocerino, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday.

Mrs. William Young

EAST PALESTINE — Mrs. Eva Young, wife of William C. Young, died this morning at 7:05 at her home after a long illness. She was 81.

She was born in North Beaver Township, Pa., Feb. 2, 1878, daughter of the late Francis G. and Martha Leslie Patterson. She was married May 9, 1900. She was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church.

She also leaves a son, Virgil R. Young at home; a daughter, Mrs. Howard G. Marsh of Cuyahoga Falls; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Taylor of New Castle and three grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the VanDyke Funeral Home by the Rev. William C. Robb. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery near Enon Valley. Friends may call at the funeral

Richardson Home Damaged

Fire Causes $3,000 Loss

A Richardson Ave. home was damaged Thursday afternoon in a blaze ignited by a short-circuited furnace motor which filled the home with smoke and overcame the dog of the family who were not at home.

About $3,000 damage was reported to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bluestone in the blaze about 1 p. m. yesterday, according to Robert Badger, assistant fire chief of the Liverpool Township East department.

Three of the volunteer firemen are shown fighting the flames in the attic through a crawl space in the utility room.

Badger reported 12 men responded to the alarm phoned in by a neighbor who noticed smoke seeping from about the eaves.

The motor of the furnace apparently became overheated and ignited the blaze in the utility room in the center of the main floor of the home. The flames spread into the attic. Firemen had to chop a hole into the roof to get at the fire in the attic to which there is no stairway.

The family pet was found behind a piece of furniture, and was carried outdoors to revive. The dog later was taken to a veterinarian for further treatment.

Firemen used two reel hoses from the tanker truck to extinguish the blaze. The Calcutta fire department was also called.

Badger said the area about the utility room was damaged by flames, and nearby areas received smoke damage and some water damage. A representative of the state fire marshal's office, visiting here at the time, commended the unit, Badger said.

Lions At Midland Announce Free Glaucoma Tests

Midlanders may obtain free glaucoma tests of the eyes Jan. 27 at 7 p. m. at the Rochester General Hospital, Paul Adams, president, announced at a Board of Directors meeting of the Lions Club Thursday evening.

The tests check for hardening of the eyeball which causes impairment of vision and blindness. A preliminary testing held Wednesday evening at the Beaver Valley General Hospital at New Brighton was termed a success.

About 100 took the tests, including five members of the Midland club. They were Adams, Albert Masters, Paul Schlosser, Claude Reed and William Robertson.

Lions Clubs of Beaver County are sponsoring the tests. Dr. Charles McConnell of Beaver will be in charge.

Some 42 baskets of food were distributed to needy families at Christmas by organizations working through a "clearing house," Paul McGeehan, club representative reported.

The meeting was cut short due to Serbian Christmas. Next meeting will be Thursday with Ted Replene as program chairman.

First 'No Contest' Plea Entered In City's Court

A new "no contest" plea was entered today by a Municipal Court defendant for the first time since the alternative to the traditional "guilty" or "not guilty" was allowed under a new law effective Jan. 1.

Russell Gamble of 3rd Ave., La-Croft, entered the "no contest" plea to a charge of driving a motor vehicle without registration plates. He acted after his rights under Ohio and U. S. law were explained by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff in the usual statement when opening the criminal court session.

Under a "no contest" plea, a defendant places the burden of proof on the city, but stipulates he will make no defense. Police reported Gamble was arrested at 9:56 p. m. Thursday on Harvey Ave. while driving a pickup truck with temporary plates that expired Sept. 24. Judge Chertoff continued the case until 3 this afternoon to arrange the appearance of the arresting officer, Patrolman Jerry Adkins.

City Youth Sentenced In Auto Theft Series

Philip Smith, 17, of 1424 Dresden Ave. was sentenced to an indefinite term at the Boys Industrial School after a hearing this morning before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Smith was arrested in a stolen car in Tulsa, Okla., and was returned to the county Thursday evening by Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

Smith admitted taking a car in East Liverpool, abandoning it in Wheeling, stealing another there and going to Georgia, where he took a third for the trip to Tulsa. He had been in Juvenile Court before and had a poor record, court said.

75 Of Panhandle Shrine Club To Attend Wheeling Rituals

Some 75 members of the Northern Panhandle Shrine Club will attend installation rites tonight in Wheeling when Lawrence Pearson of Fairmont will become potentate of the Osiris Shrine.

Pearson succeeds Edward Supplee, assessor of Hancock County, who served last year.

Plans to attend the installation were made by the Northern Panhandle group at Thursday night's meeting in the Weirton Lions Club. Clyde Cozzens of near New Cumberland, president, presided.

A flower committee was named from towns in the Northern Panhandle. It includes Woodrow Cronin of Newell, Harold Dickey of Chester, Charles R. Swain of New Cumberland, James T. Black of Weirton, Clarence Spitznogle of Follansbee and Bill Spitznogle of Wellsburg.

The meeting was attended by Bill Schenley of Florida, a former Wheeling resident and a past potentate.

Lunch was served by Bill Glover and Alonzo Brown. The next meeting will be installation of officers, Feb. 4 at 8 p. m. in the Weirton Lions Club.

2 Midland Men Given Terms In County Jail

Two Midland men and one from Beaver Falls, convicted in Beaver County Court on charges of burglary of a Beaver Falls laundry, were sentenced today to three to six months in the County Jail.

Lewis E. Barron and James H. Green, both of Midland and Wilbur L. Miller of Beaver Falls were also ordered by Judge Robert E. McCreary to pay costs and make restitution and fined $200 each.

Henderson Humphrey of Midland was given three years probation and ordered to pay costs and fined $100. He was charged with driving while his license was suspended.

Husband Finds Body Of Wife After Fire

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The body of Mrs. Mary Wadsworth, 59, burned almost beyond recognition, was found by her husband, Victor, in their garage Thursday.

Officials were unable to determine cause of the fire. An empty can of gasoline was found near the body. The husband said Mrs. Wadsworth had previously cleaned some clothing in the garage with various chemicals.

Companion Helps Boy Hurt In Fall On Sheer Hillside

An 11-year-old West End boy who suffered an injured left knee late Thursday afternoon when he fell and slid down a steep embankment overlooking the railroad right-of-way near Jethro was dragged up to the East Liverpool - Wellsville "super-road" by a companion, who then halted a passing car to summon aid.

The injured boy, Richard Lee Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Payne of Gaston Ave., was released after treatment at City Hospital. He was dragged to the highway by his companion, Eddie Lyons, also 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyons of Riverside Park.

The family said Richard slipped on a rock which came loose on the hillside below the highway as he and Eddie hunted for rabbits. The boy slid and fell a considerable distance and wound up with a wrenched knee.

After moving his companion to the "super-road," Eddie flagged down an unidentified motorist, who halted at Al's Atlantic Service Station on W. 8th St. at Chestnut St. to telephone for police and an ambulance.

Patrolman Orin Smith made the investigation after police were notified at 5:02. He said he found the injured boy lying alongside the highway about 150 yards inside the city limits, receiving treatment from a Civil Defense volunteer.

United PTA Will Hold Evaluation Of School

LISBON — A panel discussion, "Evaluation of Our School," will be the program for the United Schools Parent - Teacher Association Monday at 8 p. m.

The panel will rate the efficiency of united's educational program against a score card devised by national educational experts.

Serving on the panel will be Mrs. L. H. Clewell and Milton Steiner, parents; Mrs. Faye Pierce and Mrs. Mary Leatherberry, teachers; Tom Maple, Student; Peter Mara, elementary principal, and Elmer Stamp, member of the Board of Education. Mrs. Esther Cope will be moderator.

A program of movies will be presented for the children.

2 To Attend Session

EAST PALESTINE — Sherry Elliott and John Hersch of East Palestine High School will attend the Ohio Youth Traffic Safety Conference Saturday in Columbus as Columbiana County delegates. They will be accompanied by James Nesbitt, driver training instructor.

50 At Rotary Ann Night Of Midland Club

About 65 attended the "Rotary Ann Night" event of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday at the Presbyterian Church.

Miss Janice Castelli, a Lincoln Junior High School student, performed ballet and tap dances. Thomas Shafer was program chairman.

Sal Ruggeri introduced his wife as a new Rotary Ann. The Rev. and Mrs. George H. Bohlender were guests. Rev. Bohlender gave the invocation. The buffet dinner was served by the Queen Esther Class of the church.

Homer Paul, president, announced that the club has been invited to send representatives to a meeting of the Pittsburgh club Feb. 10 when Harold T. Thomas, international president, will be a guest.

Next meeting will be Thursday at 6:15 p. m. at Larry's Restaurant. Dr. James Swinkler will be program chairman.

Car Theft Wave Aired By County Authorities

The wave of car thefts in East Liverpool and Wellsville was discussed by the Columbiana County Police and Sheriff's Association Thursday night.

Some 18 attended the session at the home of Robert Grimm north of East Palestine.

The method of setting up road blocks also was discussed.

Firemen Elect

EAST PALESTINE — Frank Frederick was elected president of the volunteer fire department at a meeting Wednesday night at the fire hall. He succeeds Russell Hughes. Other officers include George Maleno, vice president; T. S. Hawk, secretary, and Chester McGath, a trustee. Plans were made for the annual dinner for members and wives Jan. 30.

Township Given Borough Status

Ohio Township became the Borough of Ohioville this morning, following a hearing in Beaver County Court and the signing of the decree of incorporation by Judge Morgan H. Sohn.

Operation of the borough will continue under the township supervisors until the election of councilmen and other officers.

According to Atty. Sam B. Wilson of Beaver, solicitor for the supervisors, new officials will not be elected this year but maybe next year and the borough may begin operating Jan. 1, 1962, he said.

There were no exceptions filed and no one appeared in court in opposition to the change in government, he said. Some 888 of 1,048 property owners signed petitions favoring the change to a borough. The borough has 25.34 square miles.

Democratic Woman Install At Cumberland

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mrs. Dolores Tokash of Frankfort Rd., was installed as president of the Women's Democrat Club at a meeting Thursday night in the club headquarters on Chester St.

Others installed were Alice Thomas, vice president; Mrs. Edith Cox, treasurer, and Mrs. Lillian Lyons, secretary.

Kenneth Oliver of Hamlin, vice president of the Young Democrats of West Virginia, was installing officer.

Party speakers included Miss Callie Tsapis of Weirton, a Chester attorney and a member of the House of Delegates.

The next meeting is Feb. 4 at 7 p. m.

Bringing The Report Up To Date

Every president since George Washington who has prepared a state-of-the-Union message, as required by the Constitution, has wittingly or unwittingly prepared a report on himself.

President Eisenhower's 1960 report is clearly intended to be personal. It is the last one that will be heard with the respect due to a chief executive still in office. The report he is expected to prepare before leaving office a year from now will be an anticlimax.

As of January 1960, the President is optimistic. He sees the greatest prosperity of all time in the year ahead and is not inclined to discount it for the windy inflation that puffs up current statistics.

He has not been crushed by the inability of his administration to rise above deficit financing. Once more he is talking about a balanced budget, not only for the current year but for the 81-billion-dollar year ahead.

He feels certain the United States has achieved military security with the weapons it has in being and the weapons of the future that are beginning to dribble into the national arsenal. The missile lag does not undermine his composure.

It is his opinion that the great potential antagonist of the United States, the Soviet Union, is being guided by a man whose affirmations of peaceful intent are worth listening to seriously. Mr. Eisenhower does not choose to judge Premier Khrushchev harshly.

THE PRESIDENT continues to have faith in his ability to get along with a politically hostile Congress. It never has been his practice to scold congressmen for taking issue with him—and it is interesting to remember that he promised this would be his policy when he was a presidential candidate in 1952. He has kept his promise. There has been no White House sniping at either the legislative or the judicial branches of the government for the seven years of Mr. Eisenhower's presidency.

The President made another promise that has been kept faithfully—that he would try to be the executive head of the whole country. He has been under relentless and savage attack by critics for seeming to favor this or that minority. But the range of this criticism has been significantly wide. He has displeased so many minorities it is obvious he wasn't trying to please any one minority at the expense of any other.

Problems that have nagged many Americans to the point of violence and anger are still being viewed by Mr. Eisenhower with patience and objectivity. He believes progress in civil rights can be made. He is not discouraged by the obduracy of politicians who tinker dangerously with financial matters they do not understand.

The "calamitous cycle of frustrations and crises" that has driven many men of his generation to such despair they are ready to throw in the towel has not crushed President Eisenhower. He does not see any insoluble problems either at home or abroad.

WHERE OTHER men might call on statistics to confirm or refute their views, President Eisenhower calls on faith. It has been the trademark of his administration that he has tried in all ways and at all times to buoy up the faith of his fellow Americans. This, too, was one of his 1952 promises.

He thought then that the nation needed a spiritual rebirth; that it had suffered from an overdose of drab politics that finally had made the asking price for special favors a new mink coat or a food freezer.

"Realists" have poked a lot of fun at Mr. Eisenhower in the intervening years. They have accused him of being "unrealistic," which is the most heinous crime in their book.

But perhaps it dawns on even these people occasionally that they, not Mr. Eisenhower, must stand accused of fleeing from reality. In the world he lives in and the nation he heads, there is hope—and men who have abandoned hope have abandoned the source of purposeful living.

Business Has No Doubt

Whether or not the steel settlement will be inflationary is still being talked about as if it were an open question when in fact the question was closed by the unchallenged estimate it would cost a billion dollars in 30 months.

Any settlement that adds a billion dollars to cost with no offsetting gain in efficiency is inflationary; there can be no doubt about it.

But the significant reaction among business spokesmen is that the settlement is part and parcel of the 1960 boom that now has been transformed from hope into certainty. A few will continue to murmur that they regret the inflation which goes with the settlement, but apparently none would want to say the boom is not worth the inflation it will cost.

Even the steel industry, which has stood virtually alone in its hostility to inflation, is sharing the prospect of a boom that will keep its mills humming as customers try to buy ahead of the price rise they expect to come later.

This has been the enigma of business and, even more so, the enigma of all public officials whose decisions can speed up or slow down inflation. When does the little bit of inflation that stimulates the economy become the overdose of inflation that paralyzes the nation's vitality?

When does the word "inflation" cease to be good and become bad? Or conversely, when does it cease to be bad and become good? Its antonym, "deflation," is never good at all, yet people talk as if there could be a state of monetary Nirvana in which neither inflation nor deflation would be present—only a state of nothingness in which everything would remain static yet somehow kinetic at the same time.

Business as a whole has no doubt that a boom is materializing and will materialize faster than it would have materialized otherwise because the steel industry has made an inflationary settlement with the union that can shut and open the steel mills at will. The end justified the means, as business sees it.

Steel management, which had tried to hold the line at what it considered to be the limit of a non-inflationary settlement, is getting no credit either in the business community or in the political community for its effort.

The point had needed no proving, but never was it more clearly evident that Americans have no consensus on the meaning of "inflation." The thing that makes them shudder in fear when mentioned in one tone of voice makes them shiver with delight when mentioned in another tone of voice. They're shivering with delight this January, though they shuddered in horror last summer.

Hate Knows No Borders

Political experts, sociologists and psychologists are trying to determine the reasons for the current wave of anti-Semitic expressions that has broken out in West Germany and spread across Europe and over the ocean even to New York.

Is it a resurgence of Hitler's old Nazi supporters? Is it a brand new manifestation of the age-old trick that Hitler developed so skillfully? Is it a Communist plot with the double-headed purpose of discrediting the Bonn government and distracting attention from reports of anti-Semitism in Russia? Is it simply another form of the hooliganism that plagues all the places of the earth?

All of those may have a bearing. But whatever the reasons, the crude scrawls are turning red the faces of most officials and of many ordinary citizens in the countries where they have appeared.

The government of Konrad Adenauer is most acutely embarrassed, because Germany is the only nation of modern times that made anti-Semitism a national policy on so massive and murderous a scale.

But West Germany is not the only embarrassed nation. And anti-Semitism is not the only expression of this kind of hate.

It exists everywhere. Crackpots, seething dissidents and self-righteous "saviors of mankind" know no nationality. They sometimes use nationalism as their vehicle, but their derangement is common to all of them.

Strikes, Politics Loom For 1960

By Victor Riesel

To some, Washington is a district. To me, it is a state of mind. What's on that mind as the 60s come marching in? Strikes and politics, of course.

Political leaders know that those of them who mishandle the strikes will be out. The others will be in, as they say among the beatniks.

Dick Nixon Victor Riesel knew this when he met secretly at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York on the night of Wednesday, Dec. 30, with the leaders of the nation's 11 major steel companies.

After that meeting, so certain of a steel settlement were the vice president and Labor Secretary Jim Mitchell that they slipped away from the Secret Service for a relaxing nocturnal walk. As they ambled by themselves from the Waldorf to Rockefeller Center's colorful Christmas tree and on to Times Square, they talked jubilantly of the future.

Not until Nixon had that commitment did his people begin telling the story of his behind-the-scenes role. But this is just prelude. Crisis will pile on labor crisis in the next few months. For now the nation is highballing it into an uproar on rails.

THE PERIL POINT here will come with the Maypoles—around the first of May. This prediction you get from those who know the rails best—the shippers of the nation.

These shippers of billions worth of freight keep atop the crisis because delays can cost them their yearly profits. Their associations have told them not to worry until May 1.

They insinuate that they have this from such rail union leaders as George Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Assn., a name which soon will become a household phrase along with embargoes, slowdowns and work rules.

Actually the rail crisis may not hit the showdown stage until June—just a month or so before the big political conventions.

And if you think that steel made a noise, just wait. That crisis will sound like a Wright brothers biplane alongside a fleet of incoming jet 707s on a foggy night.

This is early in the year to be writing with such confidence but what's a prediction piece without predictions: So—there probably will be strikes on one or two of the long lines and on some of the small connecting feeder companies. The issues will be almost exactly those in the steel struggle.

And like a strong chord in a symphony, another crescendo will begin off in the distance as everybody listens to the noise on rails. With the militant Jim Carey in the lead, a coalition of five unions will begin pressuring the electrical and electronics industry in mid-February.

THESE UNIONS have some 150,000 members working in General Electric and Westinghouse plants. Their contracts expire the first of October. That's about as close as you can get to the presidential campaign.

Those five unions, grouped around Carey's International Union of Electrical Workers, may well strike that day. This wouldn't exactly be a sedative for the stomachs of the Republican and Democratic nominees and their strategists.

You can be sure that Westinghouse and GE, which make up a great part of the industry, are not now planning a specially engraved pen for Carey to sign a new contract.

First no one really knows what the unions will ask. The AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Dept., headed by Walter Reuther, has sent 150,000 questionnaires to the employees of both companies.

Some 12,000 have replied to questions asking what they prefer to get from Westinghouse and GE. The early returns reveal that higher wages run behind a demand for security of jobs. This, in effect, is what the steel civil war was fought over.

We'll know what the unions want soon enough. On the evening of Feb. 19, in fact, that will mark the end of a two-day joint session in Washington of the IUE's conference of GE employees with their brethren in the Westinghouse conference (a joint board of employee representatives from all plants).

RESULTS OF THAT meeting will build up a critical point sometime in September. A strike could last right through the winter.

This conflict will have plenty of company. About half of all major union contracts expire this year. There will be about 180 major "disputes."

These will break in the fields from civilian and military jet aircraft production, coal, telephone communications; trucking, rubber, oil and shipping, to missiles and Hollywood movies.

This shapes up as a tough bargaining year and a tougher political year. So watch the political leaders of both parties. They want as few complications as possible.

Watch them move first to prove that the political pros can be tougher than even the labor pros when they have to. They'll be behind the scenes in every strike crisis early and often.

A Quiet Statement

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It was a quiet statement, without sparks.

Read President Eisenhower's State of the Union Message to Congress Thursday and you'll find no indication he expects an angry or even unusual year. On the contrary.

Peace and prosperity were central points in what he said.

They are expected to provide the Republicans' political theme song for 1960 and their main selling point to the voters in the presidential election.

There will, of course, be some struggles in Congress between Democrats and Republicans, between Southern Democrats and Northern Democrats, between conservative Republicans and liberal Republicans.

And there will probably be some tiffs between Eisenhower and the Democrats, but mild. All this would be par for the course in any year. But nothing more than that is indicated by congressional reaction to the message.

With some exceptions, it was a sort of "yes, indeed, it's a very nice message" reaction. There was more criticism of what it didn't say than of what it did.

Eisenhower spoke pretty much in generalities.

He touched on a number of issues but the key question is how far he intends to go on any of them, to push them, to fight for them. That won't be answered until and unless he follows up with specific proposals.

One of those proposals called for federal officials to register voters in cases where local registrars discriminated against them. This week word came from the administration that it does not intend to support this part of the commission's proposals.

This will be a point of confusion all year unless Eisenhower soon gets down to cases and in a special message to Congress, or in some other way, say exactly what he'd like Congress to do.

The President, just as he did last year, protested against inflation and asked for restraint in spending. It is one of the ironies of our age that while he was doing that he was also doing this:

He said this year's budget of government spending—he will go into complete detail on this later in a message to Congress—will be almost 80 billion dollars, a peacetime record.

Yet, he said, he expects the government to spend all this, and still have around four billion dollars left over from its revenues. In other words: He expects to balance the budget and have a surplus left.

With the nation's growing population and, consequently, the government's growing responsibilities at home and abroad, government spending is likely to get bigger year by year (and its income, too) unless there is disarmament.

Even in the field of peace, arms control and disarmament Eisenhower didn't try to get specific. This of course was one field—since it involves the unpredictable Soviets—where he couldn't get specific.

He seemed to be preparing the nation against excited expectations about his journeys abroad and this year's summit conference. He pointedly warned against quick solutions.

He put it this way: "We cannot expect sudden and revolutionary results. But we must find some place to begin."

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO—John Hall, a member of Boy Scout Troop 6, was given a life badge at a meeting of the East Liverpool Court of Honor in the Scout Headquarters on Market St.

Reorganization of the Kiwanis Club for 1960 was discussed at a dinner meeting at Travelers Hotel.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—George Wilson was inducted as president of the Wellsville Volunteer Fire Department.

Atty. Donald D. Shay of East Liverpool was appointed alumni chairman to organize attorneys from this district to attend the institute sponsored by the law school of Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

H. J. Kampmann was elected president of the Past Masters and Wardens Association of Wellsville Masonic Lodge 180.

TEN YEARS AGO—Mrs. Margaret Blankenship was installed as president of the Past Noble Grand Association of Ohio Rebekah Lodge 782.

The Hancock Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chester observed its 50th birthday with open house.

A Political Settlement

By David Lawrence

Union Catered To GOP Election Ambitions

A "political" settlement—the kind that solves no basic problems but merely postpones indefinitely their solution—has emerged from the steel controversy. Economic issues, particularly the inflationary effects which can diminish further the purchasing power of the dollar, were disregarded.

Already there David Lawrence is talk that the administration has given up its fight for labor-reform legislation at the coming session of Congress and prefers to put it off for the time being.

This fateful turn of events has come about because the union leaders knew how to play their politics. They found their opportunity in catering to the political ambition of Republican leaders.

For weeks and weeks artificial pressure was built up on the Democratic side through governors, senators and representatives but this was a case where the Democrats were not in charge of the executive branch of the government and could do little to bring about a settlement. So finally it was rightly assumed that the political benefits of a possible settlement had to be dangled alluringly before the Republican leaders and that strategy worked.

ON DEC. 24, this correspondent, discussing the possible success of the union strategy, wrote in these dispatches:

"The future procedure is plainly marked out. The union leaders do not say so but actually they want a 'political' settlement. By this is meant a governmentally imposed agreement. The union strategists think that in the end the steel managers will be compelled to accept it."

"This is what has happened many times before. The companies will not, of course, accept responsibility for an inflationary settlement. If, however, the government puts them in a situation where they cannot do anything but yield, they will have to agree to such a settlement and then later raise prices."

"This has been the history in major strikes and the unions feel that their influence is such that the administration in power, whether it be Republican or Democratic, must conform to the pattern."

"President Eisenhower has up to this time stood up well against the pressure for a 'political' settlement. Inside his official family nevertheless: are those who have been urging him to change his attitude. It is an open question how long Mr. Eisenhower will be able to stand firm."

THERE WERE TWO men "in the official family" who were fair targets for the union strategists—Vice President Nixon and Secretary of Labor James Mitchell. Both could see political benefits arising from playing a conspicuous part in settling the steel strike.

Logical though this may seem to represent all the people, unhappily is beholden to big business and to big unionism for campaign contributions to both political parties.

Some day men in high places may summon up the courage to awaken the public to the damage being done to the competitive system by economic monopolies but leadership in that direction has not yet emerged.

In The Mixing Bowl

By Truman Twill

Real estate agents are sniffing the aroma of a red-hot boom cooking in city residential space, and I'm with them.

This always has been my idea of what is going to be done about urban decay—not what some dogooder thinks should be done but what is actually going to be done by people, themselves.

I think urban areas are like batter in a mixing bowl. The same force that whips the batter out to the edges ultimately draws it back to the center and this goes on and on.

People spread over the landscape in all directions because the original bowl that held them inside city limits wasn't big enough. In the process of spreading out, people relieved the pressure in the center of the mixture.

The next important move will bring some of the suburbanites back downtown. Furthermore, if prophecy is permissible, there will be a move at the same time that will push some of the people now in the center to the outskirts.

In the biggest cities, this will mean that upper middle class people leaving the suburbs to go back to town after their children have grown up will pass lower middle class people on their way to the country. It isn't necessary to peer very far into the future to see how aging suburban properties will be put up for sale and will be bought by families that couldn't have afforded them when they were new.

It takes no more effort to see that than it does to see that once-expensive land in the heart of a city will become attractive for apartment house sites as it grows cheaper, until finally it is ready for clearing by demolition crews and redevelopment.

This is more than impersonal guesswork on the part of the most enthusiastic sheep rancher who ever grazed a spread on the edge of town.

There are no children any more at the Twillery to play basketball under the big oak at the end of the lane, or to play baseball and to the politically minded—and Democrats under the same circumstances would have done the same thing—the fact remains that the country has suffered a severe setback. The momentum developed in recent months for a change in existing laws governing monopolies has been slowed down perceptibly.

Just why should a small group of men representing management and labor unions be permitted to shut down a whole industry? The American system has hitherto called for competition, as contrasted with the Khrushchev system of state control of management and labor unions.

The 11 steel companies bargained as a unit only because all their workers were combined in a single union against them. Uniform rules and contract provisions have been insisted upon by the union and this is a means of fixing labor costs and, indirectly, prices throughout a whole industry.

Is Congress now to forget all about these monopolies and, as is reported, just because it is an election year, look the other way and avoid what is called a ticklish subject?

Why has the administration weakened on the fundamental principle involved?

Who is to pay the bill for the enormous economic loss suffered by the American people during the 116-day steel strike?

Can a loss like that be ignored and a billion-dollar increase in wage costs now be imposed, which must necessarily encourage other unions to make similar wage demands?

These are basic issues and yet the talk today is along the line of surrender of principle. Many members of Congress are superficially hailing the end of the steel strike and even the method by which it was settled as a salutary development, though it really doesn't get at the root of the evil of industry-wide strikes.

THE STEEL COMPANIES put up an unprecedented battle but had to capitulate in the end. They couldn't stand up against threats of hostile legislation and pressure exerted by the incumbent administration in Washington.

The labor unions acceded to the terms of the settlement because they got nearly everything they wanted and also preserved their own solidarity. Small wonder that the Steelworkers' Wage Policy Committee of 171 charged Secretary of Labor Mitchell at his meeting with them after the steel settlement was announced!

Big business and big unionism constitute today rival forces which, when they agree, can injure the "party of the third part"—the consumer.

Government, which is supposed to represent all the people, unhappily is beholden to big business and to big unionism for campaign contributions to both political parties.

Some day men in high places may summon up the courage to awaken the public to the damage being done to the competitive system by economic monopolies but leadership in that direction has not yet emerged.

The head shepherd is older than he used to be. The challenge of acres of verdure is easier to ignore than it was 10 years ago. The vegetable garden has gone down the drain. The pond that leaked has been turned over to archeologists for whatever speculation they may feel inclined to make—perhaps the crater of a meteorite that struck the earth before the birth of Christ.

Trees that were small are larger, and it's a question whether there will be time to wait for new seedlings to reach adolescence.

Winter, which used to be endured impatiently while spring was coming now is endured with patience while spring remains at a safe distance. The whirl of a lawn mower and the rat-a-tat-tat of hammer and nails no longer are the sounds of progress.

With no trouble, I can see myself looking out of an apartment window at traffic on a rainy day in the future, with everything close by—the post office, hospital, dentist, handy man, upholsterer, doctor and charge accounts.

It will be that way because that's the way I will want it to be, not because some fancy-pants figured out it would be good for me. Matter of fact, the fancy-pants fellows said I was nuts for moving to the country, which goes to show how lonely they can get.

Addition To County Home Visiting Group Is Refused

Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin said at Lisbon Thursday he has no authority to appoint a sub-committee to serve the Board of County Visitors to co-operate in studying problems at the County Home.

A group of Salem area farmers, with Richard Stamp and Ernest Whitacre as spokesmen, conferred with county commissioners Dec. 31 and requested appointment of such a group.

Commissioners relayed the request to the judge, who cited law which he said does not give him authority to name such a group.

In his answer, the judge also pointed out operations of the home are in the hands of the superintendent, Russell Phillips, and that he — the judge — has the utmost confidence in the board of visitors.

The judge's statement, which reviewed the formation of the board and aspects of jurisdiction over the home, reads in part:

"As you recall, in October 1959 we had a meeting in which a new board of county visitors was requested. The three county commissioners, Frank Wilson, Walter

A. Hunston and R. Max Gard, and myself agreed that the board should be composed, not only as the law indicated, to-wit — three Republicans and three Democrats, three men and three women — but that it should be a board interested solely in the welfare of all persons held in public institutions or on which public money is being spent, and to prevent anybody from trying to obtain any personal advantage in any way over the bodies of these poor unfortunates either in the County Home or in any of the welfare homes.

"In keeping with that I agreed that I would appoint two representatives selected by the Republican County chairman, James L. McSweeney, and two selected by the Democratic chairman, Don Gosney.

"Mr. McSweeney selected — and I appointed — Clarence L. Robinson of Lisbon, a former county commissioner, and Mrs. Gladys Hanna of Salem R. D. 2. Mr. Gosney suggested — and I appointed — Guy J. Mauro, Salem attorney, and Mrs. Kay Blackburn, Columbiana housewife. Then I made two selections of my own, George T.

Farrall of East Liverpool, a Republican and a businessman, and Mary Anderson of Salem, who has been an officer in the League of Women Voters and who had been suggested to me by the Columbiana County Mental Health association. I do not know her political affiliation.

"I believe that you and I must agree that this is a highly respectable and representative group of fine citizens. I personally have the greatest faith in them. I think any fair-minded person must also realize that this group has been selected by the duly elected representatives of both parties in a truly non-partisan manner."

I personally have the utmost confidence in this group and the work they have done to date, and know they will not permit the poor unfortunates in our County Home or any of our other institutions, be made the subject of a discussion aimed at only a personal advantage to some one person or group.

"As you can see by reading this law, I have no authority to appoint such a sub-committee as suggested. My sole authority is to appoint the Board of County Visitors, which I have done. Furthermore, I do not believe it would be necessary, since we have a fine board, composed of members of both parties and selected by both parties. In addition to that, I would like to refer you to revised code sections which place the operation of the County Home and responsibilities in the hands of the superintendent and makes provision for inspection once a month by the county commissioners.

"I feel that if Mr. Stamp and Ernest Whitacre are sincerely interested only in the manner in which the county home is being kept, and in the treatment of the inmates, they should first bring an authorized complaint to the attention of the superintendent.

"If they are dissatisfied with the manner in which he is operating, they should bring it to the attention of the county commissioners or bring some charges against him. If they feel there has been some abuse to the inmates or that these inmates are not being properly treated at the County Home, they should bring their complaint to this non-partisan Board of County Visitors.

"I feel quite sure this board will listen to the evidence and make such suggestions for changes if the evidence would warrant.

"Atty. Mauro is the present chairman. I am certain they may obtain from this board an audience, when desired, and the board will listen to Mr. Stamp and Mr. Whitacre or any of their group, and will sift evidence and come up with such recommendations as the evidence warrants.

"If the motives of both or their group are other than a desire to help these inmates then they must look elsewhere.

The revised code makes ample provision for the manner in which the County Home shall be run and also leaves open to these citizens a place where their complaints may be lodged and heard, to-wit — first, the superintendent, and if he is unsatisfactory, to the county commissioners. And of any abuse, they may also place the matter before the Board of County Visitors.

"I think we have made ample safeguard both in the law and in the appointment of this fine body of people for the protection, health and well-being of the inmates of the County Home. The mechanics of the operation of the home are outside the jurisdiction of the Board of County Visitors or of this court."

Owen D. Kountz Chosen As Council's New Clerk

Owen D. Kountz, 52, of 1271 Erie St., a former East End grocer, was elected clerk of City Council Thursday night to replace Raymond Goodman of Azalea Ave., who stepped out at the end of 1959.

Voting on a field of 5 applicants, the 6 councilmen who attended the special session gave 5 votes to Kountz and one to Rocco Corbisello Jr., 424 1/2 W. 4th St.

The other applicants were Mrs. John I. Cupp, 815 Orchard Grove Ave.; Mrs. Helene C. Quigley, 1174 Oakwood Ave., and M. J. (Mike) Sweeney of W. 3rd St.

Kountz has been semi-retired since last year, when he sold a Mulberry St. grocery which he operated for 18 years. Born in East Liverpool Dec. 13, 1907, a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kountz, he is married to the former Opel L. Holland. They have three daughters.

He first was associated in business with his father, who operated a meat market on Market St. for 45 years. Then he took a position with the A. & P. Co. before acquiring his own business.

Kountz is a member of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church, where he has served as treasurer, chairman of the trustees, a member of the Official Board and finance committee and a Sunday School teacher.

Kountz was the only member of the Democratic ticket who did not win election in November. Running for city treasurer, he lost to Bert A. Dawson, the Republican incumbent.

The clerk's post will pay Kountz $1,200 a year — $400 above the salary Goodman drew. Council established the higher salary at its meeting Monday night, then deferred the election of the clerk until last night.

Goodman has served as clerk for 12 years. He was elected in 1947 to succeed the late G. Arthur Shone, who retired after about 25 years' service. When seven Democrats were elected to Council to succeed 7 Republicans, Goodman announced he would not seek reappointment at the beginning of the new biennium.

Council also reappointed Mrs. Edna Sweeney of W. 4th St. as assistant clerk, which pays $25 monthly. She was returned to the post on a motion made by Councilman Clinton R. Seever, seconded by Councilman Clifford J. Cooper.

Election of Kountz was by secret ballot after the five applications had been read. The tellers were Lee Copenhaver, who will serve as safety — service director in the new administration, and Robert F. Popp, Review reporter.

Attending the session were Councilmen Seever, Cooper, Donald E. Smith, Robert B. Laughlin, John A. Melvin and Donald S. Hancock. Councilman John F. Kelly was excused. President Charles N. Edwards presided.

Mrs. Sweeney was acting clerk. Kountz went to work immediately after his election to familiarize himself with his new post.

Council's next regular meeting will be Jan. 18 at 8 p. m.

R. P. Jones Heads Firemen's Group

Robert P. Jones of Annesley Rd., a meatcutter, was elected new chief of Glenmoor volunteer firemen Thursday night in the fire station. Seventeen attended.

Jones succeeds Kenneth Mills, who served for six years.

Other officers elected are Leonard Congrove, first assistant chief; Wilmer Bryson, second assistant chief; Harry Reckner, captain; Tony Bischo, lieutenant, and Martin Christen, secretary.

Following the election, the Firemen's Association convened with Devine Banks, president, presiding.

The association has contracted Heck's Amusements to provide rides for a firemen's carnival planned Aug. 30-Sept. 5.

The next association meeting is Jan. 21 while volunteer firemen will meet again Thursday night.

Benefit Dance Slated As Aid To Fire Victims

The Hillcrest Community Club will sponsor a round and square dance Saturday night from 9 to midnight in the Hillcrest Community Hall as a benefit for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cline of Hillcrest, whose home was damaged severely by fire in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Cline and their two children have continued to live in the fire-damaged home. Funds will be used to help repair the structure and to replace clothing and furniture lost by the Clines, the club said. Their loss was not insured.

Lions Event Set

LISBON — The Lions Club Charter Night dinner and program will be held Wednesday, Jan. 20, at the Daughters of America Lodge with the women of the lodge serving. Tickets must be purchased by Jan. 18, according to Harry Morris, secretary.

Utility To Spend $43 Million Overall

Ohio Power Outlines 1960 Work

Improved facilities at East Liverpool and other district stations are included in the program for 1960 announced today by the Ohio Power Co.

The company will invest $43,695,000 overall during the year for construction of new facilities and the expansion of existing equipment, A. N. Prentice, vice president and general manager, said.

WILLIAM S. WELDAY of Steubenville, manager of the company's Eastern Division, said major construction projects scheduled in the division include the following:

East Liverpool — About $117,000 will be spent for completion of a $724,800 project designed to convert to higher voltages the transmission and distribution facilities in and around the city.

Wintersville and West Aikanna Substation — Construction of a 3 1/2-mile 23,000-volt transmission line between the two points. Total cost of substation and line work is estimated at $109,000, of which about $64,000 will be invested this year.

Dilles Bottom and Bellaire — Replacing ground wires on various lines. The job will cost about $59,000, with all but about $10,000 being spent in 1960.

Almost half of the $43,695,000 total will be spent at the Philip Sporn plant, near New Haven, W. Va., where Ohio Power is completing construction of a giant 450,000-kilowatt steam-electric generating unit. When completed, the unit will be larger than any generating machine now operating in the U. S., Prentice said.

"OUR FORECAST calls for the spending of $20,569,000 on that unit this year," he explained. "It is now scheduled to go into commercial operation in October 1960. Total cost of the entire project will be $65,200,000."

When the big unit goes into service, the generating capacity of the Philip Sporn plant will be 1,050,000 kilowatts, making it the largest power plant on the American Electric Power System, of which Ohio Power Co. is a part.

"The remaining portion of the forecast, amounting to more than $23 million, will be invested in transmission and distribution facilities, in our office and service buildings, in coal mining lands and equipment and in a wide variety of miscellaneous projects," Prentice said.

"The 1960 construction forecast brings the construction investment made by Ohio Power in the 15-year period since the end of World War II to more than $475,000,000," he continued.

"The expansion of Ohio Power's facilities in 1960 is part of the company's continuous efforts to provide for the increasing electrical needs of its 455,000 customers, located in 33 of Ohio's 88 counties," improvements in our tax structure and thereby truly reduce the heavy burdens of taxation."

The surplus would depend not only on high revenues but also on willingness in Congress to forego either tax cuts or heavy new spending programs.

Some Democrats and a few Republicans expressed doubt that the $4,200,000,000 surplus can be achieved. If it does become a reality, however, here's how it will affect the credit situation:

In the current calendar year, the government would be able to reduce the debt by a modest amount. This would compare with an eight-billion-dollar addition to the debt in 1959.

If there were no other factors at work, this lessening of demand for loans would result in lower interest rates.

However, Eisenhower's new budget is based on the assumption of unprecedented prosperity in 1960. And prosperity means that businessmen and individuals probably will be borrowing more money—to build factories, buy houses and finance new autos.

The increase in private demand for loans thus might offset the reduction in the government's demand and tend to keep interest rates at the present levels or even higher ones.

But with a balanced federal budget, the Federal Reserve Board might be inclined to relax some of its current restrictions on the supply of credit.

2 Hurt When Car Hits Truck

A Chester man and his teen-age daughter were injured when their car rammed a parked flatbed truck on Indiana Ave., Chester, Thursday afternoon after he said his vision was temporarily blinded by bright sunlight.

James Paisley, 536 Florida Ave. and Ruth Ann, 15, were treated at City Hospital after their 1955 sedan struck the truck on Indiana Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts. about 4:20 p. m.

The girl, a junior at Chester High School, suffered lacerations and bruises of the forehead when thrown against the windshield by the impact. Her father received cuts and bruises of the forehead.

The truck owned by William Graham of Louisiana Ave. received minor damage. Paisley's sedan was damaged badly, it was reported. Paisley said the bright sunlight obscured his vision as he drove over the crest of the hill on Indiana Ave.

2 Autos Damaged In Local Mishaps

Two autos were damaged in a pair of East Liverpool traffic mishaps Thursday afternoon and night, police said.

William S. Morris, 819 Valley Ave., told police the left rear fender of his 1954 sedan was struck by a hit-skip auto while it was parked on Pennsylvania Ave. about 6:49 p. m. A witness who saw the crash said the Morris car was hit by a green auto which continued without stopping, officers said. The witness gave police a description of the car.

Robert Williams, 1126 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, told police the left front fender of his 1947 sedan was damaged in a mishap at 4:25 p. m. on Smith St. at Lincoln Ave. Williams told police he was traveling north on Smith St. when his car was hit by an auto which was turning left from Lincoln Ave. onto Smith St. Reporting the mishap to headquarters, Williams gave incomplete data on the second auto, police said.

Deputy Attends FBI School At Charleston

Nick Palcio of Weirton, chief deputy of the Hancock County sheriff's office in New Cumberland, attended a Federal Bureau of Investigation school in Charleston Thursday on latest methods of apprehending auto thieves.

Palcio, along with other West Virginia law enforcement officers, was given new forms to be used in compiling information on stolen autos. The FBI is beginning to stress a "get-tough" campaign to reduce the number of autos stolen in the state.

National Head's Wellsville Guest

50 Attend FOP-FOPA Installation

Over 50 attended the joint installation of officers held Thursday night by Wellsville Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 11 and FOP Associates Lodge 51 at Piatt's Tea Room.

Lt. Jack Dudek of Cleveland, national FOP president, and Larry Sena of Youngstown, 2nd District FOPA trustee, were the installing officers.

Dudek also was guest speaker. He urged that "policemen be treated as an important cog in community government machinery."

He said there is a move underway to have Gov. Michael DiSalle set up a special Grand Jury to investigate alleged "brutality" of policemen and pointed out one case in Cleveland which is under fire.

Dudek said the patrolman shot a motorist following a lengthy chase in which the man tries three times to run down the officer, who was on a motorcycle. When the man finally was pulled to the curb and the officer approached the car, the man reached for the glove compartment. The officer drew his gun, fired, and killed the man, Dudek said.

The case was taken before a Grand Jury, investigated very thoroughly, and the officer was exonerated. Now the police are being called "brutal," he said. He then compared this with the "brutality" of men who shoot, beat, rob, rape and torture innocent citizens.

"We read each day of police officers being sued or criticized for their actions," he said. "This makes it difficult to obtain high caliber men for the jobs. Officers of the law are not sadistic but are normal men just like other men," he said.

Touching on the juvenile problem, Dudek urged the use of "woodshed psychology." "Chastizing a youth for doing wrong will not hurt him," he said.

"It is time we begin to awaken to this problem," Dudek commented.

William Daugherty was toastmaster. Guests included members of City Council, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, Dick Rose, county probation officer, and Chief Sheriff Deputy James Miller.

Cedrick Stanway offered the opening prayer and Dominick Cati gave the benediction.

For Party's Convention

Hays, Gosney Head Slate Of 'Favorite Son' DiSalle

Petitions were placed in circulation today seeking election of Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Ohio District congressman, and Don R. Gosney, county party chairman, as delegates to the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles July 11 pledged to support the presidential candidacy of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as Ohio's "favorite son."

The petitions name as district alternates Maurice R. Appert of Thompson Ave., merchant, real estate operator and party leader, and Mrs. Dorothy Gorbey of Steubenville, Jefferson County Democratic women's chairman.

Petitions also were placed in circulation for the candidacy of Ohio delegates and alternates-at-large to the national convention, also pledged to the DiSalle candidacy.

Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville is the candidate for delegate-at-large and Frank Vannelle of Bellaire, a Democratic party leader in Belmont County, is candidate for alternate-at-large.

All the candidates were endorsed by 18th District Democratic leaders at a recent meeting in Steubenville. The district is comprised of five counties — Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Carroll and Harrison.

Gosney, also Democratic State Central Committeeman from the 18th District, obtained petitions for the delegates from the County Election Board's office. The delegates will appear on the ballot as pledged to Gov. DiSalle as first choice for Democratic presidential candidate.

The governor has indicated he will lend his support to Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, one of the front-running candidates for the nomination.

Under Democratic party procedure, each congressional district in Ohio is entitled to send two delegates and two alternates to the convention. Each delegate has a full vote. In addition, Ohio is entitled to send 36 delegates at-large and 36 alternates at-large. The at-large delegates each are entitled to a half vote.

The delegates will be elected at the May 3 primaries. Petitions for 18th District candidates will be filed with the Columbiana County board under Ohio law, as it administers election procedures in the most populous county of the district.

When filing the petition, the delegates are required to furnish a certification that they have the permission of the proposed candidate for the use of his name.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Betty Hutton was released Thursday from a hospital where she was treated four days for influenza.

Big Telescope In Ohio

Due Moving To Arizona

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Perkins Observatory's 69-inch reflecting telescope, fifth largest in the United States, will be moved to a site near Flagstaff, Ariz., late this year. The telescope, operated by Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio State Universities near Delaware, Ohio, will be moved to the Lowell Observatory of Flagstaff, with financial aid from the National Science Foundation.

A 32-inch camera and a 16-inch Schmidt camera will replace the 69-inch telescope in the Perkins dome. Lowell Observatory will maintain the telescope, but title and ownership will remain with Ohio Wesleyan.

Sue Linger, Allen T. Allison Exchange Vows At Chester

White roses, palms, ferns and lighted tapers formed the altar setting for the marriage of Miss Sue Carolyn Linger of Chester to Allen Thayer Allison of Chester Dec. 26 at the First Christian Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo R. Linger of Lytton St., and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allison of Pughtown.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Albert Hall, pastor of the Pughtown Christian Church. Mrs. Harry Shaw played a half-hour of nuptial music on the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess-style gown of silk peau de soie with long, pointed sleeves, sweep chapel train and a bustle bow. Sequins and pearls, studding the lace applique, detailed the scoop neck and full skirt.

Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a lace princess crown studded with sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid. Her wedding band belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. Tillie Schaffer. She wore tiny pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Judith Ann Linger, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Misses Mary Jane Brand and Martha Smusz were bridesmaids.

They wore similar pine green silk dresses with scoop necks, three-quarter-length sleeves and large bustle bows. Their headbands were of white fur, and they carried bouquets of red and white carnations with lilies of the valley. They wore rhinestone bracelets, gifts of the bride.

Jay Allison of Pughtown, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Norman Allison, another brother, and Jack Mayhew were ushers.

Mrs. Linger wore a smoke pink

Pfc. And Mrs. Alvin Bailey Now Honeymooning In City

Pfc. and Mrs. Alvin G. Bailey are honeymooning here following their marriage Dec. 27 in the First Presbyterian Church of Benson, Ariz.

The Rev. David Martin, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar setting of palms and ferns.

The bride is the former Miss Arlette Marie Severson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Severson of Benson, and her husband is the son of Mrs. Sara Temple of Bates St. and Alvin Z. Bailey of Xenia.

Miss Bethanne Baker presented traditional organ music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of embroidered lace over tiers of net and satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and short, shirred sleeves, worn with gauntlets.

The bouffant skirt featured cascades of ruffles with a redingote effect of lace. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was held in place with a pleated tulle and lace crown trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of variegated pink carnations and wore a single-strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Verdie Severson was her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Patricia Castonguay was bridesmaid. They wore identical, ballerina-length gowns of white lace over pink taffeta, with full, circular skirts, fitted bodices and draped necklines of nylon tulle and streamers in the back. They carried Colonial bouquets of white carnations tied with pink net.

Larry Nissen was best man and Larry Bullock was usher.

The mother of the bride wore a brown floral dress with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

MRS. A. G. BAILEY
Bride Is From Arizona.

A reception was held in the church social rooms. Aides were Mrs. Elmer West and Miss Eleanor West.

For traveling, the bride wore a blue suit with white angora trim with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

After their visit here, the couple will go to Wisconsin before returning to Sierra Vista, Ariz., to reside.

A reception will be held Saturday night at the Midland Community Hall.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Benson Union High School and was employed in the Benson Restaurant.

The bridegroom attended Beaver Local High School and is stationed with the Army at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

It Was Ladies' Night On Television

"The Margaret Bourke-White Story" is another dramatic case history of triumph over illness which had both its fine moments and its not-so-fine ones. To take the good points up in the order of their importance, Miss Teresa Wright gave a solid, deeply felt, technically finished performance in the title role. This is the story of the famous photographer who has covered the earth-shaking events and the people after she is stricken with Parkinson's disease—a humiliating, fearful, progressive ailment.

It's a true story and it's commendable of "Sunday Showcase" to pick a noble, heart-warming story like this. And lastly, the camerawork and direction of the operation shots on Miss Bourke-White's brain were gripping, if slightly grainy.

THERE WERE some tremendously effective camera shots looking up into the face of the surgeon and also some terribly effective ones looking down into Miss Wright's face.

The trouble here is that the camera should have been one thing or the other—either seeing the thing through the eyes of Miss Bourke-White or, impersonally, seeing Miss Bourke-White through the eyes of an outsider—not both.

Joseph Liss, who wrote the script, is an old pro at this sort of narrative. But I'm afraid his dialog does get monotonous.

The first time Miss Wright dropped a camera and screamed, it was a highly poignant and dramatic moment. But after the fourth or fifth time she tipped something over I got a little restive.

The unfortunate part of dramatizing a real live person's life is that the real live person and her lawyers are watching. The medical profession also is watching. So the author must be accurate, in good taste, noncontroversial and polite.

THIS NARROWS his range considerably, and in this case the range was narrowed to the point where Miss Bourke-White was made two-dimensional and she's not like that at all.

The real dialog—I'm sure it was real—was delicious. For instance, Miss Bourke-White during the operation finds herself saying: "Unbelievable! Can I be enjoying this?"

And when the doctor asks her how she feels, she replies: "Fine! Happy!"

Both those reactions are so unusual that you know they have to be real.

If you like operations, this one is a thriller, all right, and there was none of those medical dramatic clichés—"Forces! Sponges!" etc.—in the operation scene at all.

THE ENDING, with Miss Wright bouncing a ball at some kids and looking the spitting image of the real Miss Bourke-White, was emotionally fulfilling. Perhaps that's the real attraction of these true stories.

We dare not be sentimental in our fictional creations. But with real people we can let down our guards a little and allow a bit in the feeling, for which there is a great hunger among the populace.

This is the second role of this sort Miss Wright has done. She played the original "Miracle Worker" on television before Anne Bancroft got the part on Broadway, and she did a marvelous job of it. She's a gifted girl at heartbreak roles.

NBC WAS UP to its armpits in feminist women Sunday night.

Directly following the spirited Miss Bourke-White, Janet Blair played Nellie Bly going around the world in 72 days.

This was a sort of musical version of that famous newspaper story with Miss Blair kicking up her heels clear around the globe as a sort of demonstration of the capabilities of women.

It's the first one of these things with a story line that I thought had real bounce and spirit and conviction. Miss Blair, as usual, was full of fire and exuberance. Altogether I had a fine time.

Ohio GOP Group Cool To Bender's Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former GOP senator George H. Bender of Ohio intends to run in Ohio as a delegate-at-large for the national Republican presidential nominating convention, but the Ohio GOP House delegation is cool on the idea, informed sources say.

Bender's name came up in a closed meeting of the delegation Thursday, and one informed source said the delegation "didn't want to see Bender run for anything."

Now a paid consultant to Teamsters president James R. Hoffa, Bender says he will run for the convention regardless of what the Ohio Republican Committee decides. That committee will soon name a slate of 10 candidates for at-large delegates, but one source told a reporter he is pretty sure Bender will not be one of the 10.

The meeting generally was to hear from Ohio chairman Ray Bliss about finances for the forthcoming campaign.

Sen. Young Shrugs Off Legion Ouster Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) says he is far too busy to pay any attention to the demand from some Cincinnati American Legionnaires that he be ousted from the legion.

He said he is too busy at his job as senator to "pay any attention to this publicity seeking group."

Young's remarks were another round in his squabble with the Hamilton County Legion over his agreement to speak before what the legionnaires called a Communist front organization.

The senator, a charter member of the Army-Navy legion post in Cleveland, had called the Cincinnati group loud-mouthed professional patriots.

She Wears Silver Wings

Flight Nurse's Insignia Presented Area Woman

Second Lt. Eleanor M. Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Wilson of the Y. & O. Rd., is at Mountain Home Air Force Base in Idaho awaiting a new assignment after receiving the silver wings of a flight nurse at the School of Aviation Medicine at the Aerospace Medical Center in San Antonio, Tex.

To qualify, she completed a six-week course at the school, which is located at Brooks Air Force Base. The course covered aviation physiology, management and care of patients under all types of flying conditions, theory and practice in treatment of mass casualties, survival, nuclear weapons and their effects and a complete review of medical and surgical nursing.

The Air Force said the six-week flight nursing course is the equivalent of eight months of college. It includes 216 hours in classrooms, 16 hours swimming and rescue instruction and practice and 18 hours flying time.

Lt. Wilson was graduated in 1953 from David Anderson High School in Lisbon. Graduated from the City Hospital Nurses Training School in 1957, she was on the staff in the operating room in 1957 and 1958. She received her Air Force commission in September 1958 and attended the officer indoctrination course the following month at Gunter AFB in Montgomery, Ala.

She reported to Mountain Home AFB Dec. 31, 1958, for general duty in a medical and surgical ward. After completing the course at San Antonio, she returned to the base in Idaho to await further assignment.

Lt. Wilson entered the service through the Air Force recruiting station at City Hall. T. Sgt. Charles D. Ward, recruiter, said information is available at the station on opportunities in the Air Force for women, including nursing. He is on duty each Tuesday and Thursday from 10:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Scouts Hold Bake Sale To Get Uniform Funds

In an effort to raise funds for uniforms and camping equipment, Midland Heights Boy Scout Troop is holding a bake sale and began taking orders Thursday evening in a house-to-house canvass.

Bake goods will be delivered next Thursday. Plans for the sale were made at a meeting Wednesday evening in the Community Building. Leroy Lewis, scoutmaster, presided, assisted by Bob Chambers, assistant scoutmaster.

Two new members, Robert Todd and Steven Menich, were enrolled. Tentative plans were made for a weekend trip to Camp Baker near Bradys Run late in January.

Lunch was served by members to Edmund DiCiccio, Herma Trent and Bob Bryan, committee-men.

Grocery Proprietor Gets 'Drop' On Bandit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A gunman walked into a grocery store here Thursday.

The proprietor, Anna Claycik, said: "Oh, I've seen you here before!"

The gunman turned and fled.

New Fleet Captain

CLEVELAND (AP)—Capt. J. N. Rolison Jr., of suburban Bay Village, is the new fleet captain of Pittsburgh Steamship Division, a U. S. Steel affiliate. Rolison has been with the company 22 years and is considered an expert in lake navigation.

Weirton Steel Aide To Speak To Chamber

A representative of the Weirton Steel Co. will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Wells-ville Chamber of Commerce Thursday, Jan. 28. Four new members to the Board of Directors will be announced and seated.

Dan Sweeney of the Industrial Relations Department of Weirton Steel will speak on "Industry and the Community." He is president of the Weirton Hospital Co. and former city manager.

The place for the dinner has not been selected, according to Atty. William Bush, secretary. He said tickets will be mailed shortly.

Voting on the new board members is being done by mail. The ballots are out and should be returned to Bush. This is the second year the voting has been done by mail.

Those whose terms expire are Kenneth Bell, Ed Pugh, Mrs. Elizabeth Donaldson and George Rowen.

Candidates are Thomas Platt, Dean Hudson, Dr. Janis Lauva, Allen Dalrymple and Harry Henninger.

The board meets within 10 days following the membership meeting to reorganize and elect officers.

Reports Received By DeMolay Unit

Two petitions for membership were received and various committee reports presented when Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, met Thursday night in the Masonic Temple.

Forty members and five advisors attended. Darrell Smith, master counselor, presided.

Gary Hicks, Harding chapter's state representative, announced that an Ohio State Council Workshop will be held Feb. 27-28 in the Deshler-Hilton Hotel in Columbus.

Homer D. Hoffman, dad advisor, discussed the credits needed for various merit awards.

A group of officers and members will visit an inspection of the Salem chapter Wednesday. The next meeting of Harding chapter is Jan. 21.

2 Boys Given Lecture On Railroad Trespass

LISBON — Two Salem youths, 16 and 17 were let off with a lecture at a hearing before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin Thursday for trespassing on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks northwest of Salem. They were also warned not to trespass again.

Sgt. Harry McCaskey of the Canton office of the Pennsylvania railroad police ordered the youths into Juvenile Court after he arrested them. The section of the road is being patrolled regularly because of two incidents.

Last month somebody placed a 57-pound spike bar on the rail and a train hit it, throwing it over 200 feet, but didn't wreck the train.

About a year ago, someone threw a switch in the same vicinity. This could have caused a serious accident but was averted by an alert engineer, Sgt. McCaskey said.

Patient Case Faces Study Following Lisbon Hearing

Arrangements for further clarification of the status of a Glen-moor man who is a patient at a Columbus tuberculosis hospital were made at a meeting of the patient's family and county officials Thursday afternoon at Juvenile Court in Lisbon.

The informal session was scheduled by Judge Louis Tobin for a full study of the case in which Henry Thompson, a millworker, was admitted to the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital under court order after he refused to enter voluntarily.

Both Thompson and his wife had written to The Review complaining that he was being held behind bars in a ward at the hospital. The meeting was arranged as a result for a public review of the background.

Judge Tobin explained that Thompson apparently had an active case of tuberculosis — according to medical evidence — and had twice in the past year left two hospitals against the advice of physicians.

State law provides that a Probate Court may issue an order for compulsory hospitalization of a person who has active tuberculosis and who refuses to enter or absents himself from a hospital when in the opinion of the health authorities his condition is a public health threat.

When the county Board of Health and the county Tuberculosis Control Clinic reported Thompson posed a health threat to those with whom he came in contact, Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, filed for a court order to compel hospitalization of the patient. At a hearing Dec. 10, when Thompson refused to go voluntarily to the hospital, a court order was issued and he was taken to Columbus Dec. 15.

Stark Grand Jury Begins Long Task In Vice Probe

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Eight men and seven women on a special grand jury to investigate gambling and vice in Stark County have begun a task that may keep them busy for three months.

They'll hear testimony from more than 100 witnesses and consider about 25 pounds of written comment and evidence presented by state and local officials. And throughout the prolonged inquiry they will be expected to observe their oath of secrecy.

Common Pleas Judge George N. Graham, who Thursday impaneled the jury and named a foreman, told jurors that their work should be governed by "diligence, secrecy and impartiality." James M. Ridball, a Canton salesman, is the foreman.

Coal Loadings Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—During 1959 vessels loaded 40,073,899 tons of bituminous coal at Lake Erie ports, compared with 37,482,468 in 1958 and 47,083,944 in 1957, the Ore & Coal Exchange reported Thursday.

About a year ago, someone threw a switch in the same vicinity. This could have caused a serious accident but was averted by an alert engineer, Sgt. McCaskey said.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Middle Muscles Need Toning Exercises

Exercise is a beauty measure. In fact, something dreary happens to your looks and your spirits when you diet stringently with slight exercise. Dr. L. E. M. or ehouse, with the Department of Physical Education at the University of California, expresses it this way:

"Women on a diet tire quickly and shun exercise, then atrophy sets in... and the result is a scrawny appearance. The answer: Diet scientifically, reduce slowly and keep exercising." Ease into an exercise routine. When you stretch, center the stretch where the figure needs discipline, through the middle. Then follow through with a smooth side-bend. Hold the muscle contraction to a slow count of six and slowly release. Do not hold your breath. Breathe freely.

START WITH exercises to tone the muscles of the abdominal wall for, as the fat is removed, it is important to restore needed tone to these muscles which hold the important organs in place. When the important girdle muscles have live tone, normal daily living is more pleasant.

Today's exercises are easy enough for almost anyone to take. However, it is always wise to talk with your doctor.

Position: Lying on back on floor, left knee bent, sole of foot flat on floor, right arm stretched back on floor overhead.

Movement: Contract strongly with abdominal muscles and get small of back as flat against floor as possible. Now stretch all along the right side, tip to toe. Keep small of back on floor and stretch three times. Then flex right knee and stretch along left boundary lines.

From this same position, raise the straight leg part way up and, holding the muscle contraction, very slowly lower leg to floor, counting out loud to ten. Do the same with the other leg. Do not hold breath.

"Stand" on knees, have arms stretched out at sides, shoulder level. Slowly bend sideways to the right, aiming to touch fingers to floor at right. Don't cheat! Do not allow hips to bow out at sides as you bend. Back to center, bend to the left. Repeat 8 to 10 times, alternating sides. This side bend is wonderfully waist whittling.

Groat's All Stars Here Jan. 18 . . .

A formidable group of baseball players who run around on the basketball courts to keep in shape during the off-season will come to town on Monday Jan. 18.

Under the banner of Dick Groat's Major League All-Stars, the team will meet a squad picked from the City Basketball League. The game is set at Memorial Auditorium.

The East Liverpool Sportsmen Club, which sponsors the City League, is bringing the baseball stars here.

According to Jim Flasco, City League director, proceeds from the contest will be used for outside lighted basketball courts.

The cause is worthwhile and the game should be a good one.

Groat will bring with him Roy

Face, Ron Kline, Jerry Lynch, Chuck Tanner, Paul Smith, Bob Del Greco and as an added feature All-American Don Hennon.

The last time Groat appeared here was in the 1950 Tri-State tournament. He was an All-American basketball player at Duke University.

Composing the City League All-Star team will be Bevo Francis, Jim Tucker, Bob Bingham, Ted Robinson, George Parfitt, Vince Giles, Stan Yukich, Jim Harris and Frank Chan.

Tickets for the game are $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Tickets for the contest are on sale at Dick Brian's, in East Liverpool, the House of Wax in Wellsville and Rivetti's in Midland.

PLAYING along side All-American Jimmy Darrow doesn't give former Potter star Bob Dawson much of a chance to score, but he has been seeing a lot of basketball action for Bowling Green this season.

A high scorer in high school and with the Bowling Green freshman last season, Bob is rated "the best passer and feeder on the team" by his coach, Andy Anderson.

And he spends most of his time on the court feeding Darrow, who is averaging close to 30 points a

California Will Support Federal Control In Ring

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's bolting of the National Boxing Assn. today brought a strong hint this state may seek closer cooperation with New York or possibly recommend federal control of the sport.

"If federal control is constructive, we would be all for it," declared Jack W. Urch, executive officer of the California Athletic Commission.

He added the state is willing to join with any group dedicated to restoring boxing to "the high pinnacle of public esteem that it deserves." New York and Massachusetts are the only other states outside the NBA. The former, in recent months, has conducted several investigations of boxing.

Urch said he urged the NBA last September to take steps to clean up the sport and warned that federal intervention was likely. A committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) is reported ready to start a nationwide investigation.

Last Aug. 25, California's GGov. Edmund G. Brown suggested at a news conference that some national boxing laws were needed "because this boxing business is apparently infiltrated by racketeers and gangsters." Brown said he may recommend banning the sport if Congress doesn't act on the matter this session.

In the past year, California suspensions have not been upheld by other NBA members. The state refused a managerial license to Al Weill, who handled Rocky Marciano when he was champion. It also suspended Larry Boardman of Marlboro, Conn., and his father-manager, Sam.

Wellsville Hosts Toronto Squad Tonight

South Rated Favorite In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Collegiate stars from throughout the country will clash in the 11th annual Senior Bowl game Saturday in what the weatherman says will be ideal football weather.

The forecast is for clear skies with the temperature probably in the 50s for the televised meeting of 25-man squads representing the North and the South.

The South is a 3 1/2-point favorite to win its seventh game in the senior bowl series, in which the players become pros. Members of the winning team will receive $600 each, the losers $500 each.

Quarterback Charley Britt of Georgia will direct the South defense and also serve as co-captain together with Ken Kirk of Mississippi, the middle linebacker on defense.

The North players elected two linemen as captains. They are center Bill Lapham of Iowa on offense and middle guard Rod Breedlove of Maryland on defense. Jack Lee of Cincinnati will be the North quarterback, spelled by Olen Treadway of Iowa.

Weeb Ewbank of the world champion Baltimore Colts is the South coach. Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants directs the North squad.

The game will be played under pro rules, including unlimited substitution and one point conversions.

Tribe Invites 13 Farmhands For Training

CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Frank Lane is hoping at least one of 13 minor leaguers invited to Tucson for spring training with the Cleveland Indians will impress enough to be kept with the club all season.

Lane pointed to the record of pitcher Jim Perry, an unheralded farmhand on a similar training stint last year and now an established major leaguer.

The 3 trainees heading for Arizona include nine pitchers. Three of the pitchers have trained with the Tribe in previous years.

A pitcher considered likely to make the grade is Ed Drapcho, a 24-year-old southpaw. His record last season with Mobile in the Southern Assn. was 11-6 with an earned run average of 2.23.

The others invited to Arizona and the club with which they played last year are:

Pitchers Robert Allen, Reading; George Denyer, Batavia; Bill Fazekas, Reading and Burlington; Tom Gansauer, Batavia; Julio Guerra, Reading; Robert Gordon, Selma; David Tyrivier, Mobile; and James Weaver, Burlington; shortstop Mike De La Hoz, Reading and San Diego; second baseman Steve Jankowski, San Diego, and catchers Allen Jones, San Diego, and James Lawrence, Minot.

Fazekas, 20, a hard-throwing right-hander from Lorain, will be making his second trip to the western camp. So will southpaw Allen and right-hander Guerra.

Westgate Five Gains Second

Westgate pulled away in the waning minutes to hand Wellsville a 37-29 setback Thursday night on the Westgate court.

The victory was the second in four games for the Westgate five. Trailing 9-7 after the first quarter, Westgate went in front, 24-18, at halftime and showed a 30-25 edge after three periods.

Dean Cline sparked Westgate's drive with 11 points while Andy Dash pumped in 16 for the losers.

Replaces Craig Burbick

Adkins To Start Saturday Against Youngstown South

The East Liverpool Potters will attempt to shake off a four-game losing streak when they invade Youngstown South Fieldhouse Saturday night.

Coach Jim Harris said today that he plans one change Saturday. The Potter mentor will start Harold Adkins in place of Craig Burbick in an effort to get more offensive and rebounding strength into the lineup.

Burbick was benched following his performance at Midland Saturday night when he scored only one point. The 6-foot-3 senior shows only six points in his last four games.

Adkins, a senior, stands 6-foot-2 and has seen limited action this season. He tossed in four points in the fourth quarter against Midland Saturday.

The remainder of the Potter lineup will be the same, with Bob Mackall at the other forward, Ray Bigelow at center and Kenny Cunningham and Phil Chan at guards.

Harris has been impressed with the work of Chan in the past two games and in practice sessions.

The Potter-South game will get under way about 8 p. m., with a reserve contest starting at 6:45.

Coach Merrill Rosselli's Warriors are battling 500 for the season, but will meet Youngstown Rayen tonight in a City series battle.

Youngstown South has rolled over Chaney, Boardman and Canton Lehman, while losing to Farrell, Girard and Sharon.

The two scoring mates for South are Don Willis and Tom Jenkins, each standing about 6-foot-3.

Lou Lenord, a 6-foot-2 performer, is the leading rebounder on the outfit, while the two outside men are Bob Price at 5-foot-10 and John Kinsley at 5-foot-9.

Saturday's game will wind up a long and rather disastrous road trip for the Potters, who have played their last four games away.

East Liverpool will return to Memorial Auditorium next Friday to play Toronto.

CINCINNATI quarterback Jack Lee jumps up to throw in practice session at Mobile Thursday for the 11th annual Senior Bowl game Saturday. In front of him are two of his favorite receivers, Washington State's Gail Cogdill (64) and Don Ellersick (26). All three will play for the North in the All-Star game. (UPI Telephoto)

Buckeyes, Indiana Meet In Crucial Big 10 Tilt

By The Associated Press
It is do or die for twice-beaten Indiana, a prime Big Ten pre-season choice, in its basketball game at Ohio State Saturday.

Another loss and the Hoosiers, who have succumbed surprisingly to Purdue and Northwestern in their first two conference starts, would be jolted out of title consideration.

The regionally televised game, in which the Buckeyes' sensational 28.2-point averaging sophomore, Jerry Lucas, makes his college TV debut, should be one of the best of the season.

It certainly tops a conference card Saturday that sends Michigan (0-0) to Michigan State (1-0), Minnesota (1-0) to Illinois (0-1), Northwestern (1-0) to Iowa (1-1) and Wisconsin (0-2) to Purdue (1-0).

Northwestern coach Bill Rohr concedes that "Ohio State is the most likely champion, but is followed closely by Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan State and Purdue."

Even with a 61-57 victory over Indiana Monday, in which Wildcat rookie Bill Cacciatore scored 27 points, Rohr thinks his team is destined to wind up in the last three along with Wisconsin and Michigan.

"Too much inexperience," he says.

The slow-down tactics being used so far against Indiana might be Ohio State's strategy Saturday when the 6-8 Lucas must face such rugged giants as 6-11 Walt Bellamy and 6-7 Frank Radovich. But that would be a departure for the racehorse Buckeyes.

The Hoosiers have had a serious slump in shooting accuracy, hitting only 348 against Purdue and .296 against Northwestern. Against the latter, the usual hot pot-shooting Indiana guards totaled only 5 field goals in 24 attempts.

"If we don't play better than that at Ohio State, we're going to get a tamping," says Coach Branch McCracken.

Wilkinson Denies He'll Quit Coaching After Probation

Speculation Spreads During NCAA Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—The 54th annual NCAA convention reached its climax today amid speculation that Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma may retire from coaching football.

In Hawaii Thursday night the Sooners coach denied that he will quit. He made no further comment.

Friends and colleagues of Wilkinson feel that the indefinite probation leveled this week on Oklahoma by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has disillusioned Wilkinson to the extent that he will quit football, despite his tremendous 121-13-3 record as head coach of the Sooners.

Wilkinson also is athletic director at Oklahoma which he has led to three national championships and 12 consecutive Big Eight Conference titles.

The former Minnesota star, currently in Hawaii to coach in the Hula Bowl, finished the season with a 7-3 record, his worst of 13 seasons at the Norman, Okla. school.

Comments from friends, Big Eight colleagues, coaches and newspapermen who are close to Bud, could be summed up generally: "He saw this (the probation) floor, and it will break his heart. Bud's record is cleaner than that of 90 per cent of the coaches in the country. He loved to win, but he played by all the rules, both on the field and off. And the worst blow of all is that another coach blew the whistle on him."

No one cared to identify the "other coach," and the NCAA never discloses the sources of information which lead to its investigations.

The NCAA has continually emphasized that Wilkinson and all other school officials connected with Oklahoma athletics have cooperated fully.

The Oklahoma case continued to overshadow the normal sessions of the convention, as the group's business session was held today.

Up for consideration was a new two-year football television contract plan.

The plan, part of the TV committee's over-all recommendations, would for the first time empower the TV committee to deal with the televising network for two years rather than one. The idea is to give sponsors advertising continuity. It was expected to pass easily on the convention floor.

Rickey Battles To Keep Twin Cities Interested

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Baseball patriarch Branch Rickey pictured himself today as a man "clothed in olive branches" in the hope of getting his new Continental League peacefully accepted by the present majors.

But in the climax of two days of high pressure campaigning to keep Minneapolis-St. Paul in the Continental fold, he aimed a rhetorical barrage at any lingering hopes here that the Washington Senators can be persuaded to switch their franchise to the Twin Cities.

Rickey denied the Continental regards the Twin Cities as a battlefield between the Continental and the majors. Yet the vigor of the Continental sales pitch made it clear the new league puts a high value on keeping the franchise.

The 79-year-old Rickey won important converts in the Twin Cities. He wants quick action on obtaining use of Metropolitan Stadium.

Yet at least one key figure in Minneapolis' negotiations for a big league franchise indicated he has not abandoned the idea of bringing the Senators here.

Gerald Moore, chairman of the city's baseball committee, said the contract under which the Boston Red Sox lease the stadium for their American Assn. farm club gives the Red Sox "first refusal" on any major league franchise move here.

Rickey Thursday night offered a frightening portrait of Minneapolis-St. Paul baseball under the Senators' franchise.

"By the 15th of July there would be nobody to see your games," he said. "There would be no farms, no bench, no second baseman, no third-string catcher."

Rickey said he was certain the American League would not permit removal of the club from Washington, a venture Moore and other local negotiators have been trying to bring off for two years.

Beaver Local Wrestlers Extend Win String To 5

Beaver Local set the stage for its crucial match with Martins Ferry Saturday by knocking off Warren, 26-13, Thursday at Warren.

Five Beaver Local wrestlers continued undefeated in the match which saw the winners capture eight of the 11 bouts.

It marked the fifth straight victory for Coach Jack O'Rourke's squad who will put the perfect mark on the line against undefeated Martins Ferry Saturday.

The match is set for 2 p. m. at Martins Ferry.

The Purple Riders also boast a 5-0 record and show eight undefeated wrestlers.

Thursday Chuck Timmons recorded his fifth straight pin of the season when he threw Richm of Warren in 5:53 of the 103-pound match.

Francis Passage continued unbeaten with a 3-2 decision over Isom. Carl Hoppel 133 pounder was scored on for the first time this season, but came out on top with a 7-3 win over Thompson who was a state finalist last year.

Two other Beaver Local grapplers who continued undefeated were Larry Yost who decided Brogdon 6-0 in the 127-pound battle while Bill Greathouse polished off Chnahic 8-6 at 138.

Other Beaver Local victories were picked up by Jim Hall who decided Howell 4-2 in the 154 pound match. Bob McBane, 145-pounder, gained a 7-1 decision over Wilson and Francis Campbell received a 6-5 nod over Shobel at 175.

'Big O' Scores 27

Robertson Plays 'Feeder'

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even when he has a bad night in scoring—that is if you think 27 is bad—Oscar Robertson is a tough man to beat.

The versatile All-America collected only 27 points—13.7 under his record scoring average this season—but showed his class as a "feeder" in sparking unbeaten Cincinnati to a 76-69 Missouri Valley Conference victory over the Shockers at Wichita Thursday night.

Robertson made only nine points in the first half but set up his teammates with just as devastating effect for a 47-29 lead. Wichita kept whittling Cincinnati's margin in the second half but the Big O, guarded closely by 6-10 Gene Wiley and 6-4 Ron Heller, popped in 8 points to preserve Cincinnati's unbeaten record.

Cincinnati, the nation's No. 1 team and one of the four unbeaten major quintets, now has an 11-0 record. The Bearcats lead the Missouri Valley with a 2-0 mark.

Robertson and Co. move to Tulsa Saturday for a clash with the Hurricanes who proved surprisingly tough against Bradley's fourth-ranked club at Tulsa. The Braves found it difficult to beat Tulsa 71-58.

Most of Thursday night's major action was concentrated in the potent Missouri Valley Conference. In the other MVC contests, 12th-ranked St. Louis (9-3) outclassed Houston, 74-46, and Drake whipped North Texas State, 85-73, despite Jim Mudd's 35-point performance for the losers.

The Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes (12-1), ranked 14th, edged Iowa 69-67 on stubby Dick Hickox' 30-footer from the side at the final buzzer. St. Joseph's of Philadelphia made up a 16-point deficit in whipping St. John's (NY) 82-77.

In scattered action elsewhere, the Air Force (1-6) scored its first victory of the season, downing Omaha U., 90-41; Furman hit on 50 per cent of its shots for a 80-69 win over Clemson; Georgia downed Georgia Southern 83-75 on Phil Simpson's 18 points and mighty rebounding; Memphis State thumped Oklahoma City 81-68, and Kentucky Wesleyan nosed out Tennessee State, 109-107.

White, OSU Fullback, Signs With Houston

HONOLULU (AP)—Bob White, Ohio State fullback, said tonight he had signed a one-year contract with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League.

White, drafted by the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, is here to play with the East All-Stars in the Hula Bowl game Sunday.

White refused to say if he previously had agreed to play with the Browns.

East's Eighth Grade Five Tops St. Aloysius

The East Junior High eighth grade squad turned in a 45-9 win over St. Aloysius Thursday at East End.

Randy Stover and Bob Mercer shared scoring honors with 10 points each. Hissem and Cheeks tallied three each for the losers.

Woody Hayes' Incident Reviewed By NCAA

NEW YORK (AP)—Whether it was him they were talking about they wouldn't say, but it was an obviously agitated Woody Hayes who was seen leaving the American Football Coaches Assn.'s Ethics Committee room here.

The Ethics Committee, meeting in conjunction with the NCAA convention, issued this report Thursday:

Concerning the "alleged striking of a sports writer, the disposition of the case was made known verbally to the individual involved."

Hayes, Ohio State's head coach, was accused last season of striking a Pasadena writer after OSU lost 17-0 to Southern California.

The committee, after reviewing 11 cases involving alleged malpractices by member coaches, said of this particular one:

"It is appropriate at this time to point out that Article VI, Section I of the Code of Ethics of the AFCA states that it is a responsibility of the coaches to accredited writers and radio and television commentators to provide news about their teams and players."

"They should be treated with courtesy, honesty and respect. However, it is the unanimous feeling of this committee that a coach has the right to maintain locker room security."

The "however" provision would seem to leave the hassle between Hayes—if that's whom the committee aimed its statement at—and West Coast sports writers as moot an issue as ever.

Shown the report by The Associated Press, Hayes said:

"If from this report, the implication is taken that I actually struck the man, then the implication is wrong. If the ethics committee feels that I should not have shoved the man out of the dressing room area, then they are entitled to their opinion."

"If I had struck the man, he would have known it—may be later, but he would have known it."

Hayes has contended all along he only shoved the reporter and that the writer was invading post-game locker room privacy. The writer charged that he was outside the dressing room proper and was punched.

The Ethics Committee played it safe by describing the case at hand as having occurred "in the vicinity of a locker room."

Oakland Enters AFL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Oakland has been granted a franchise in the American Football League, the Los Angeles Times said today. Ernie Nevers, former Stanford University football star, will run the front office of the new franchise, the Times said. Other franchises have been awarded Denver, Dallas, Houston, New York, Boston, Buffalo and Los Angeles.

Two Iron-Jaw Fighters Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Hawaii's Stan Harrington and Gaspar Ortega, the flower of Mexicali, Mexico, have one thing in common. Neither of tonight's Madison square Garden welterweights has been knocked out.

Harrington's jaw has been tested in 40 pro bouts, all in Honolulu, and Ortega's mandible has withstood the shocks of 70 fights. The Hawaiian claims he never has been down. Ortega admits being decked once by Florentino Fernandez in their first meeting.

Not too much is known about Harrington around these parts. He is not rated. His record, dating back to 1953, is 34-5-1 with 21 knockouts.

Ortega rightly owns the nickname of the "Unlucky Indian." He must have fought as many split decision fights as Kid Gavilan.

Each fighter is 26 and each is convinced the time has come to make a serious move toward the top if he ever hopes to reach it. Ortega is favored.

The 10-round match will be carried by network (NBC) radio and television at 10 p. m. (EST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case of even rounds.

Spaulding's 1,349 Paces Pin Tourney

OMAHA (AP) — Harold Penrod Spaulding achieved the dream of every tenpin addict when he found his name atop the All-Star Bowling Tournament standing board Thursday night.

How it got there only he knows. The 35-year-old bowling alley manager from Moline, Ill., had a wretched practice session Wednesday in a downtown alley, but he said "in those three games I learned a little trick."

"I can't tell anyone what it is but that's why I bowled so well in the tourney."

He rolled a 227-203-213-248-214-244 — 1,349 series. He is in his third All-Star tourney. The best he got in the other two was 38th place each time.

Joe Sato, Pocahontas, Idaho mechanic, took third place with 1,344.

The national team champion Budweisers of St. Louis were represented by five men. This club by group included Ray Bluth, second; Pat Patterson, fourth; Bill Lillard, fifth; Tom Hennessy, ninth, and Dick Weber, tenth.

Bill Welu, defending champion from St. Louis, was in 72nd place with 1,205.

Marge Merrick, Dearborn, Mich., bowling instructor, led the women's field at the one-third point of the division's preliminary with a 205-184-211-231 — 831 series.

Defending champion Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., was in 40th place with 744.

'Community Of Year' Honor Goes To Warren

NEW YORK (AP)—Religion in American Life, Inc., a non-sectarian organization devoted to increasing worship attendance at all churches and synagogues, today named Warren, Ohio, as the "Community of the Year."

The organization said Warren, selected from among 454 cities and towns throughout the nation which held Religion in American Life community campaigns during the year, was honored for holding the best all-around program.

Worship attendance increased an average of 12 per cent in the participating houses of worship in Warren, the organization said. They included 24 Protestant, three Roman Catholic, two Eastern Orthodox churches, and one synagogue.

Ohio Manufacturer Sees 1960 Good Year

CHICAGO (AP)—An Ohio manufacturer of household tables says 1960 looks like a good year.

Thomas Mersman, president of Mersman Brothers Corp., Celina, Ohio, remarked at the annual Winter Home Furnishings Market here Thursday:

"Optimism is all over the place."

He said 1959 was the biggest year so far in the table industry and he expects 1960 to be 10 per cent ahead of it.

The private home furnishings show, which runs through Jan. 15, is attended by six housewares manufacturing firm heads and about 10,000 retail store buyers.

Hamilton Bar Operator Reports $6,160 Theft

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A Hamilton tavern operator told police Thursday he was robbed of $6,160 by an armed bandit who hid on the floor in the back seat of his automobile.

Bobby Jo Burton told detectives the man suddenly arose from the floor as Burton drove away from a bank where he had obtained the money for use at the tavern.

Burton said the man forced him to drive to New Miami and then back here. After transferring the money from a bank sack to a plastic bag, the holdup man took the car keys and fled on foot, Burton reported.

Election, Oath-Taking

Slated For Ohio Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Election of two officers and swearing in ceremonies for new members here will mark the fourth anniversary of the Ohio Board of Education Monday.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court will administer the oath. A president and vice president will be elected for two-year terms.

A business session will follow on Tuesday. The board will consider standards for proposed summer schools for children of migrant farm laborers, discuss a plan for supervision of business education in Ohio, hear a report on creation of a new Ravenna Local-Ravenna City School District and act on Supt. E. E. Holt's recommendation to revoke the charter of Jackson Rural High School in Wood County.

Polaris Missile Fired

On Successful Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Polaris missile, using a new self-contained guidance system, was launched on a successful 900-mile flight Thursday night.

The success was a significant step in developing the Polaris as a nuclear punch for ocean-roving submarines.

For the first time, the Polaris was directed to its target by the inertial guidance system which will be used in the operational vehicles. Previous Polaris test rockets employed command guidance from ground stations.

The Navy announced the successful flight, ninth in 24 launchings for the advanced two-stage version of this submarine weapon.

Actor Jackie Coogan Asks For Jury Trial

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You are much too soft on teen-agers. I almost keeled over when you recently advised a mother to limit her gabby 15-year-old daughter to 20 minutes for a telephone call. You said, "Anything worth saying can be said in 20 minutes."

Why Ann, don't you know the most significant messages of history can be delivered in far fewer than 20 minutes? The Gettysburg address, Thanatopsis, the Lord's Prayer, the Preamble to the Constitution, the Ten Commandments to name a few. Even your own daily pearls of wisdom would take less than five minutes to read.

Please review your advice and tell those mothers to lop the phone time to five minutes. It's plenty.—MOUNT CLEMENTS.

Dear Friend: Thanks for the sermon from the mount. I have news for you. Teen-agers don't phone each other to recite the Gettysburg address or Thanatopsis any more. They yak about what happened at school, who's going with whom, what to wear tomorrow and other earth-shaking issues which to them are matters of life and death.

This type of communication is important to teen-agers. While it may not be productive, it's not destructive and one 20-minute gab session per evening gets my okay, provided no one is waiting for the phone.

Beau In A Spot

Dear Ann: When I was in the service I met a lovely girl. Her folks were kind to me and I had many a good meal with them.

I am back home now and have written and invited the girl to meet my folks. I told her she could stay in our house. She wrote back that both she and her mother would love to visit us.

We just don't have room for them both. I figured my girl could share my sister's room which has the only extra bed in the house. Also, if her mother came my folks would have to entertain her and they aren't the social type. What shall I do? —BAD SPOT.

Dear Spot: Apparently this girl doesn't consider it proper to visit alone in the home of a boy to whom she's not engaged — and hooray for her.

Surely you have a relative, friend or neighbor who could put them both up for two nights (this is plenty). Or why not borrow a cot for your sister and give Mama her bed?

DON'T suggest the mother not come. It would be impolite and put you in a bad light.

Break Both Hearts

Dear Ann: I'm a high school senior with good grades. I want to go to a Midwestern university but can't decide which one. Dad is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He keeps telling me how great Ann Arbor is and he'll be heartbroken if I don't go there.

Mom went to the University of Illinois. She says Champaign is a dream school for girls and she's anxious for me to go there as Grandma went to Illinois and I'd be third generation Illini.

Every night they both put the self on me. It used to be a joke but it's not funny any more. Help, please. —KOOK.

Dear Kook: Don't go to either school. Choose from some other schools, and you'd be off the hook.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

2 Former City Men To Dance On TV Show

Two former East Liverpool men are members of a Cleveland dance trio known as the Landmark Dancers who appear each Saturday night at 7 on television station WEWS, Channel 5, at Cleveland.

They are Donald Russell, a former resident of W. 7th St., and Jerry Flint. Mrs. Flint is the other member of the group.

Russell is employed at the Campus Custom Clothes store in Cleveland. He worked as a dance instructor before leaving East Liverpool last August. He is a graduate of East Liverpool High School.

Russell visited here over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Winston Myers, 1205 Pennsylvania Ave.

Firemen To Purchase Ambulance As Vehicle

During a meeting Wednesday evening at the Dixonville fire station, Liverpool Township East volunteer firemen voted to purchase a 1951 ambulance for use as an emergency vehicle.

New officers were installed and Ed Burns, president, conducted business. Chairmen appointed by Burns include James Barton, sick and flower fund; Kenneth Ketchum, ways and means, and Dave Bahen, finance.

A special training session will be held Thursday at 7 p. m. at the Dixonville station. Next regular meeting will be Jan. 20. John Laitsch is secretary.

Mack Sennett, Movie Pioneer, Hospitalized

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mack Sennett, who brought comedies and bathing beauties to Hollywood, was hospitalized Thursday night with a lung infection.

The pioneer movie producer was admitted to the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital.

His agent, Reese Halsey, said Sennett walked in. The action was described as precautionary. Halsey said Sennett will be 80 on Jan. 17.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Skill Needed To Regain Discipline

The most distressing letters I get from parents are about youngsters over 12 or 14 who have got out of hand and have little or no regard for authority. Parents who write these letters usually have tried hard to bring up their children well. Most of them believed, when their children were much younger, that they were doing what they supposed the experts on child rearing were telling them to do. Weren't these parents, by what they read and heard, constantly warned against being strict, lest they warp their youngsters' personalities and fill them with frustrations? Weren't these parents overwhelmed with the pleas for more permissiveness?

MY HEART goes out to these parents and to their children also. No sense in scolding either side. No point in telling the parents what they should have done or not have done when their children were much younger. They can't take their children back and bring them up again.

Suppose you are one of these parents. Sit down together, you and Dad, to consider what you can do from now on.

Take stock of a few ways in your child that you believe you might be able to change. Agree on the resources at your command, the controls you are able to put into effect, the good traits and good ways in your child you can build upon.

Consider the ways in which you two can control your angers and your words toward him when he's ugly or disobedient. Figure out ways to be cheerful and companionable with him. Don't let yourself talk back to him or have word battles with him or go around feeling and acting "mad" or sorry for yourselves.

SINCE YOU are in the most strategic position, center on ways to change yourselves first before trying to change him. Keep silently in mind the standards of behavior you hope for in him.

When you parents have yourselves well in hand and can set the stage where neither you nor the child feels the least estranged or antagonistic toward each other, ask him if he would like to do, or not do, so and so. Pray for skill and wisdom and boundless love to these ends.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Child Meaning of No" and "How Juvenile Delinquency Can Be Cured," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Bursitis Can Be Helped

• Chickenpox

Q. Will you please write about calcified bursitis?—C.B.

A. All joints are padded with fluid-filled sacs called bursae (singular-bursa). In the accompanying drawing the bursa of the knee joint have been drawn so that they can be clearly seen. Inflammation of a bursa (bursitis) is often preceded by injury to the joint. Long continued irritation may lead to deposits of gravel-like calcium within the bursa. Doctors are sometimes able to break up the deposits without much trouble. Injections are also employed plus x-ray treatment. In some cases it may be necessary to surgically open the bursa and remove the deposits. Heat, massage, and gentle stretching as prescribed by the doctor may be helpful.

Q. How long should a child who has had chickenpox be kept out of school? Can adults get chickenpox?

A. In most communities chickenpox patients are excluded from school until most of the scabs have disappeared. The period of communicability (period when the disease is catching) is probably not more than one day before or more than six days after the appearance of the skin blisters or rash. Because chickenpox is so catching, it is usually contracted on the first exposure so the majority of cases occur in children. One attack always protects for life. However, the disease occasionally occurs in adults.

Measured by fast relief from pain or swift recovery from illness—prescribed medicine is priceless. Measured by our reasonable prices, prescribed medicine is the biggest "bargain" money can buy.
